Insanity Plea Hinted By Greenlease Slayers

Surprise Development Comes at Trial Opening

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The possibility was raised today that the kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease would seek to escape the gas chamber through an insanity plea.

This surprise development came at the opening of the federal trial being held for the sole purpose of determining whether they should die for the crime they have fully confessed.

Both Carl Austin Hall, the 34-year-old playboy wastrel, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, the housewife turned alcoholic, listened attentively as their lawyers reserved the right to bring up the insanity question at any time during the proceedings.

Their counsel told the court they were not raising the question now but they wished to protect the constitutional rights of the two defendants and if evidence warranted an insanity plea they would make one even after conviction.

HOLD TO PLEAS

The defense lawyers said neither Hall or Mrs. Heady wanted to change their pleas of guilty, entered at their formal arraignment.

Judge Albert Reeves told the panel of 125 men and women that the sole job of the jury—to be chosen from among them—would be to decide whether a death penalty should be assessed. Under provisions of the Lindbergh kidnap law under which Hall and Mrs. Heady are being tried, only a jury has the authority to recommend the death penalty.

At the trial opening, Roy Dietrich, Hall's court-appointed counsel, failed in two efforts to have the panel of veniremen discharged.

He said under the Lindbergh kidnapping law Hall's plea of guilty was final and there was no authority in the law for calling a jury to fix the penalty. He emphasized he wanted to preserve this legal objection in case of a later appeal.

Judge Reeves overruled that point and also turned down Dietrich's argument that the panel should be dismissed because the jurors could not be impartial.

Twenty subpoenas have been served and up to 200 persons are available to testify for the government.

Mrs. Heady admitted luring little Bobby from a private school in Kansas City Mo. She and Hall took him across the state line into Kansas where he was shot to death in a field September 28. The body was buried in a grave already dug behind Mrs. Heady's house in St. Joseph, Mo.

Six days later the couple obtained a record $600,000 ransom from the boy's father. But within two days the pair was caught. About half the ransom was recovered.

Big Three Turn Down Reds But Churchill Still Has Hopes

PM Will Suggest New Approach

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today the forthcoming Bermuda Big Three conference will consider how to arrange talks with the Russians.

Churchill told the House of Commons he will study with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel how such talks might be arranged.

"We will study the best methods and actions for making easy and practical talks with them (the Russians), even if we cannot solve all major problems and thus reduce world tension," Churchill said.

His comment was made in opposing a Laborite move in the House to make Britain's two years' selective service law come up for yearly review.

Referring to the Bermuda conference, Churchill said:

"This conference is not in order to weaken our forces or our resolve, but to discuss ways of strengthening them, both morally and materially and, at the same time, where that is not inconsistent, to study ways of reassuring the other half of the world that we mean them no harm and to repudiate all intention of aggressive action."

He then explained the intention of the conference to consider how talks with Russia might be arranged.

"That," he said, "is the sort of thing I hope may develop from our talks."

FISH ENTICE HIROHITO FROM POSSIBLE DEATH

TOKYO (AP)—Bored with a television show, Emperor Hirohito walked out of his sitting room to his laboratory, where he studies marine life as a hobby.

Just 1½ hours later, the massive plaster ceiling of the sitting room collapsed, apparently from dampness. The imperial household today reported the incident, which happened 10 days ago.

Notes Reject Soviet Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The western powers told Russia today that Soviet price for entering into negotiations on German unification and Austrian independence is "totally unacceptable."

Notes were delivered by British, American and French envoys in Moscow to the Soviet foreign office.

They replied to Russian demands put forward in a note of Nov. 3.

In their reply, the western powers said the Russian demands in effect placed non-European problems ahead of even a study of urgent European issues and made "a defenseless western Europe" part of the price for Soviet participation in a conference.

The western powers said "the Soviet government must be well aware" that such demands are totally unacceptable.

Officials said that the American note and virtually identical British and French notes were sent to the foreign office in Moscow.

The western nations have been negotiating with Moscow since last July for a conference on Germany and Austria.

They consider that the note they delivered today probably closes the exchange.

The western powers stated that while the whole affair is over as far as they're concerned, the door to a conference along the lines they previously proposed is still open any time the Kremlin is seriously interested.

TRUMAN BROADCAST AT 8 TONIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman prepared today to discuss the Harry Dexter White case tonight on radio and television.

Truman reports to the country at 8 p.m., PST, in a speech which, he has said, will "tell all the facts." He said in Independence, Mo., Sunday night that director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI attended a conference at which White's fate was discussed.

Ladysmith Man Among Violent Deaths in B.C.

Violence Responsible For Five Victims

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five violent deaths were recorded in British Columbia during the week-end, all on the lower mainland.

Richard Harris, 21, Ladysmith, was found drowned Sunday in the Fraser River at suburban Richmond.

Maynard McPhee, 66, missing since Oct. 19, was found drowned in English Bay here Sunday. His body was found with a chain and weights attached to the waist. Police said no foul play is suspected.

Howard Perry was found gassed in a room in West Vancouver: Gordon Brooks, 59, was drowned Saturday when he fell from a gangplank in the city's dock area, and Mrs. Mary Sleigh, 74, died Saturday night as a result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident Friday night.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twelve persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation showed today that traffic deaths, nine of which occurred in Ontario, accounted for the majority of the total of 18 fatalities in the east.

Ontario and Quebec were the scene of all the deaths, with a total of 14 in Ontario.

Shootings caused the deaths of three persons, and a fire, a drowning and a railway accident another three.

Nominations Closed With Five in Field

Nominations closed for the Victoria Nov. 24 by-election at 1 p.m. today with no surprise candidates.

Returning Officer Alan B. Macfarlane reported only the five candidates submitted nomination papers.

They are Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Social Credit; George F. Gregory, Liberal; Alfred Matthews, CCF; Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson, and Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Progressive Party

(See page 15 for biographies).

The by-election was necessitated by the resignation of Socred Percy Wright, who was elected last June. He resigned to allow Mr. Gunderson to contest one of the city seats. The minister was unsuccessful in Oak Bay in June.

The by-election will mark the return to the single choice system of voting after British Columbians had a whirl at the alternative multi-choice system of casting ballots. This system was abolished at the last session of the Legislature.

If Victorians vote the same way on Nov. 24 as they did last June, a Social Credit victory is assured.

Here's how they marked their first choices in that contest:

Socred Wright, 9,032; Liberal Straith, 7,193; CCFer Campbell, 4,923; Tory Patch, 1,139, and LPP Mortenson 127.

Voting will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in about 30 polling stations, mostly in schools, throughout the city.

Electors should take their "where-to-vote" cards with them to the polls.

19 Believed Drowned in Channel Crash

DUNGENESS, Eng. (Reuters)—Rescue craft pulled six survivors and five bodies from debris-strewn waters of the English channel early today, but 14 other crew members of a sunken Italian ore carrier were unaccounted for and feared lost.

The 2,745-ton Vittoria Claudia sank within five minutes of being struck by the French freighter Perou. Many of the crew were hurled into the sea by the impact, while others were believed helplessly trapped below decks.

One of the rescued men died shortly after being picked up. The five others were treated for shock.

Farina Alessanor, cook of the sunken ship, said it went down so fast there was no time to get a lifeboat away.

By noon today however the rescue of the 14 men waned, though a large rescue force still combed the collision scene in the straits of Dover. The Perou, reporting "some damage," headed for Le Havre after a fruitless search for survivors.

Tito Offers Trieste Port To Italians

ROME (AP)—A new offer by Yugoslav president Tito to give Italy the port city of Trieste raised diplomats' expectations here that a five-power conference on the disputed Adriatic territory is imminent.

These circles also felt Italy and Yugoslavia now were agreed on a number of major points relative to the 285 square miles of territory inhabited by 375,000 persons which each nation has claimed.

Speaking in Belgrade Sunday, Tito dramatically waived his claims to the port city and conceded Italy should have it. But he repeated his demand for the rest of Zone A, the territory of farms and vineyards around the city. The city's 300,000 population is largely Italian, the rest of the zone's 25,000 settlers are mostly of Yugoslav-Slovene origin.

Yugoslav control of the rest of Zone A would isolate the port from Italy. Diplomats here believed, however, that Yugoslavia also would concede Italy a corridor linking her with the city.

Cook Said Sane, To Be Released From Oakalla

Robert Winter Cook of Duncan, acquitted last month on a charge of murdering his father in 1949, will be released from Oakalla Prison, probably this week.

His release has been approved by an order-in-council passed by the provincial cabinet.

Cook was acquitted recently when a jury decided he was insane at the time of the killing. But after the trial, he was sent to Oakalla to be held "at the pleasure of the Crown."

The government has decided Cook is sane now.

Cook was at Essondale Mental Hospital from shortly after his arrest until last spring, when he was pronounced fit to stand trial and sent to Oakalla. The trial followed.

HUNTERS WERE NEVER LOST

Three Island Youths Turn Up At Sooke After Night in Bush

By DOUG FORRESTER
Times Correspondent

Three young Sooke hunters believed lost over the week-end turned up today hale, hearty and hungry after a night in the bush.

They are Rodney Sullivan, 19, of Sooke; Alan Smith, 19, of Saseenos; and his brother, Dennis Smith, 18, who reported they were "never lost."

Jerry Van Ek and myself joined a search today that was directed by Const. Peter Humphries, RCMP, and drove up Muir Creek.

We met the boys walking out at 9 a.m.

They said each had shot a deer in the area behind the Elder Logging Co. operations, but "packing out" was a slow process and when darkness fell they were forced to stop. They lit a fire, tried to make a meal of cough candies, and waited until daylight before finishing their hike.

They said the rain was drenching and that it hailed and snowed.

The deer are still in the brush, since the boys were anxious to come home quickly today and relieve any anxiety suffered by their parents and friends.

They had gone hunting Sunday morning, and were expected back at noon. When they did not show up a small search was organized Sunday afternoon, and the larger effort got under way today.

'Socialism In Silk Hat' Drew Charges

OTTAWA (BUP)—Opposition Leader George Drew today accused the goverment of practicing "socialism in a silk hat," and said its recent decision to limit air freight competition could mean the end of free competition generally.

Drew, opening the Throne speech debate, attacked the government's wheat marketing policies and the decision to move the National Film Board to Montreal and called for a full explanation of government plans to deal with the unprecedented surplus of Prairie wheat.

One North Korean caused the interviews to be suspended for one hour and 50 minutes when he blew his nose with an "explanation sheet" signed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Only six of 227 NorthKoreans interviewed chose to go home after long "explanations," some of which lasted more than five hours.

'ECONOMIC ISOLATIONISM' CHARGE AGAINST U.S.

Trade Policies Blasted By Canadian Industrialist

NEW YORK (BUP) — The United States was accused of "economic isolationism" today by R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Fowler told the 40th Foreign Trade Convention of the National Foreign Trade Council Inc., "you seem to be clutching at any device, however expensive and uneconomic, that will make you self sufficient again. You seem to question the development of sources of supply in other friendly countries when I would have thought you should welcome this development of expanded international trade which provides you with commodities you need, and enables other countries to buy from you commodities that they need."

Fowler cited American outcries against independence upon "foreign" sources of supply for such things as aluminum and newsprint, and he asked, "Is there any validity in that argument when applied to Canada?

"Is your defense strategy seriously weakened by the fact that you are dependent on Canada for most of your nickel—which is another strategic material? Surely the fact is that in any emergency your country and mine will be on the same side and will be involved together from the beginning.

"Is this anything more than economic isolationism — the direct lineal descendant of that political isolationism which now happily seems to be dead or dying in this country? Is this a policy that will expand international trade and promote better international relations? The fact is that Canada is today by a wide margin the most important customer in the world for American imports."

Fowler called United States tariff walls "unscalable," and American customs procedures full of "iniquities and antiquities."

He said the so-called rising tide of anti-Americanism in the United States' friends and Allies in Europe was due to several factors.

"You have many friends and supporters in Great Britain," he said, "who are tending to remain silent because they are confused by the delays in working out your international policies. They hope that you will soon be able to set a clear and enlightened course as the political and economic leaders of the world."

Fowler deplored the use of the words "aid," "assistance," "help," "support" and "gifts" in reference to what he called "American investments in the mutual defense of the free world, in which the United States has so large a stake.

"They are tough, practical investments made in our broad self-interest," he said.

U.S. CABINET MEMBER WOULD CUT TARIFFS

NEW YORK (UP)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks today proposed the gradual removal of U.S. tariffs except where they are needed to protect U.S. wage rates in industries "important to a substantial segment of the American economy."

In a speech to the national foreign trade convention here, Weeks said he was speaking "only for myself," not for the administration.

But he directed his suggestion to the commission on foreign economic policy which has the job of recommending future foreign trade policy to Congress and the president.

WASHINGTON (BUP)—The Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce today called on the United States commission on foreign economic policy to eliminate unnecessary restrictions to Canada-U.S. trade.

The plea was contained in a brief, which also asked for a more equitable and practical valuation and classification of goods by United States customs officers. The brief presented the views of Canadian private business as distinct from the government representations which have been made recently in Washington, officials of the Canadian council said.

Eisenhower Urges Canada-U.S. To Hurry Defense Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aides to President Eesenhower today sized up his Ottawa visit as a step toward alerting both the United States and Canada to a need for bolstering continental defenses against possible Soviet attack.

These aides, who asked not to be named, were quick to note that actual strengthening of the defenses remains to be achieved. But they voiced optimism it will be done.

The president returned to the White House late Sunday after an overnight train trip from Ottawa where he and Mrs. Eisenhower were guests of the Canadian government for two days.

JOINT COMMUNIQUE

A few hours before Eisenhower left the Canadian capital Saturday, he and Prime Minister Louise St. Laurent, announced in a communique they were in complete agreement on:

"The vital importance of effective methods of joint defense, especially in the light of evidence of increasing ability for direct attack on both countries by weapons of great destructive power."

The communique was issued shortly after Eisenhower, in an address to Parliament, deplored Russia's "arrogant" attitude and declared Canadian-U.S. defenses must be built to recognize "Soviet' ability to employ atomic attack on North America."

The United States completed its first transcontinental railway in 1869; Canada in 1885.

Service is planned to provide two additional round trips daily between Victoria and Vancouver.

Rabbit Meat Shipment From Island Delayed

Vancouver Island rabbit breeders at a meeting in Victoria last week decided to postpone a plan to ship rabbit meat to Pender Island because of the uncertainty of CPR boat schedules to the gulf islands.

It was pointed out that a shipment of meat was to have been made Friday aboard the Alberni, but the ship was weatherbound up-Island and was unable to make the run.

Korea Veteran Plans Simply to Eat, Sleep

13 Island Soldiers Back From Battle; City Man Won't Talk of Atrocity Tales

The week-end's wet and cloudy skies did little to dampen the pleasure of 13 Vancouver Island Korea veterans on arrival in Vancouver Saturday.

Of the group of 1,074 who disembarked, seven soldiers are from Victoria, six from other Island points.

At least two city men are still in Vancouver, visiting there before returning to their homes. Most of the men are members of the 3rd Battalion, PPCLI.

Typical of the happy group was Pte. Donald Leslie Mason, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mason of 1916 Belmont Avenue.

The Victoria-born soldier, who has two months' leave before he reports again, said he intends to fill in the time "mostly sleeping and eating."

The PPCLI man, who has been in Korea about one year, joined the army two years ago after attending Victoria High School.

When asked for his personal opinion of atrocity stories which have emanated from the Eastern battle front, he replied:

"There are and there aren't. In other words, no comment."

Still in Vancouver are Pte. K. S. Shawcross, a paratrooper, and 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Shawcross, 1340 Lyle Street, and Pte. F. W. Allen, 2448 Richmond Avenue.

The latter was met in Vancouver by his parents Saturday and is expected home late today or Tuesday. The Vancouver-born soldier was almost 15 months in Korea and attended school in Sidney and Saanichton.

Other city soldiers scheduled to arrive were: Pte. J. E. Dawson, 518 Ellice Avenue; Pte. D. W. Lawrence, 962 North Park Street; and Pte. F. C. Shelton, 836 Walker Street, and Gnr. A. S. C. Ristensen, RCA, 1293 Denmon Street.

Up-Island soldiers were: Pte. S. Franz, Alberni; Cpl. J. W. Johnson, Courtenay; L.-Cpl. D. A. McBean, Nanaimo; Pte. M. O. MacMillan, Grand Entry; Pte. R. E. Pennock, Qualicum Beach; Pte. G. Rolph, Nanaimo.

LPP Candidate Demands New Isolation Unit

"The provincial government must take the lead in providing an isolation hospital for Vancouver Island with a modern building and up to date equipment," Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor Progressive (Communist) Party candidate told a week-end house meeting at 1953 Oak Bay Avenue.

"We should not have to face another emergency like the polio epidemic this summer with the present inadequate facilities at the Royal Jubilee."

"The debt reduction that the Bennett government boasts about is a paper saving as far as the average taxpayer is concerned," she said. "The only thing that the taxpayer knows is that his taxes are at their highest level in history and the Socreds haven't saved him a nickel on the dollar."

Promises that war work would keep the shipyards booming have proved "a snare and a delusion," according to the candidate. Only increased overseas trade and the need to rebuild Canada's merchant marine to carry our goods could provide stable employment in the shipyards.

Police Suspect Boys

SOOKE—Gibson's Service Centre Ltd. was broken into over the week-end by thieves who took cigarettes, candy, and other small articles, RCMP reported today.

No cash was taken. Police believed young boys responsible.

GRATEFUL PARENTS HONOR DEAD AIR HERO

FORESTVILLE, Md. (AP)—Five months ago today, Capt. Francis T. Evans Jr. saw that his crippled Sabre jet was headed for a school yard crowded with 250 children.

He put the plane into a dive and leaped only after he was certain it would miss the playground. It did, by 300 yards, but there wasn't time left for his parachute to open.

Sunday, the grateful fathers and mothers of this little suburb of Washington, D.C., gathered in the schoolhouse as Evans' widow dedicated the "Francis T. Evans Auditorium."

A children's choir—several of its members were on the playground that day—sang "Saints of God."

Professors Blamed For UBC Communism

DUNCAN—University of British Columbia has more than its share of Communists, Ron Gostick, Canadian Anti-Communist League national director, said here Saturday night.

He said he doubted that he had ever had as many Communists attend a single meeting of his as were present for his UBC address last week.

"There must be several professors in the university who are filling the boys full of Marxism," he said.

He suggested Igor Gouzenko, former Soviet legation employee in Ottawa, should be allowed to testify in Washington, D.C., as requested.

"I think he could tell the U.S. committee a great many facts, some of which might cause a little embarrassment in high places here," he said.

Mr. Gostick said he believed the B'Nai Brith lodge to be one of the strongest allies of Communism on this continent. It was behind the Anti-Defamation League, he said, whose function was to keep from the "front pages" any "vital information that would expose Communism in this country."

Stormbound Princess Three Days Delayed

Stormbound at Chamiss Bay for three days, Princess of Alberni resumed her West Coast schedule Sunday as wind and sea moderated.

The ship is expected in Victoria Thursday morning.

Meanwhile, CPR officials have corrected an erroneous report that Princess of Alberni will skip the Port Renfrew call southbound. The report came from the Port Renfrew Chamber of Commerce.

PROSECUTOR ASKS MOSSADEGH'S LIFE

Wobbly Premier Cries He Is Insulted; Court Asserts Its Competence for Trial

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—A government prosecutor denounced Mohammed Mossadegh today as "this wretched villian" and demanded the death penalty for the ousted former premier.

Shortly after Prosecutor Hossein Azemoudeh had called for his execution, Mossadegh turned to court president Nasrollah Moghbeli and asked why "this man is allowed to insult me?"

REJECT COMPLAINTS

The military court trying Mossadegh in the Hall of Mirrors rejected his complaints that it is incompetent to try him on charges of disobeying an order from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi.

Even though he said he would refuse to attend his trial, Mossadegh wobbled meekly into the courtroom during the morning to hear the prosecutor lash him as a traitor who plotted armed insurrection against the Shah.

DOCTOR OF ANIMALS

"Let him be punished with a sentence befitting his crimes," Azemoudeh said. "Yea, this scoundrel who like a sly fox fled from the public wrath Aug. 19 and slunk to his lair in order to prevent them from shedding his dirty, filthy blood."

"Is the prosecutor allowed to insult me also," Mossadegh cried.

"I wonder what that man is doctor of," Azemoudh said.

"Doctor of animals," Mossadegh retorted, and spectators laughed.

Mossadegh called for heart stimulants during a court recess.

25 MEN ON A HORSE

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Mounties are making things easier for their horses.

The last time the Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported their strength someone figured that if all Mounties were mounted, they would have to put 37 men on a horse.

The latest annual report showed today that there were 176 horses for 4,333 uniformed officers and men—about 25 to a horse.

Reynaud Sees Europe United Within Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-President Paul Reynaud predicted today that France eventually will join a United States of Europe, and that a European army will be in existence a year from now.

The French leader said he believes the French Assembly will ratify before next March 1 the European defense community plan under which a six-country European army is projected. Only West Germany has approved EDC.

In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, weekly news magazine, Reynaud said a proposed constitution for a United States of Europe is being examined by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

"I am convinced these governments will accept the direct election by the people of Europe of their own European assembly," he said. Thus, he added, a United States of Europe would come into being "not far from the beginning of next year."

$100,000 Fire Hits Lethbridge

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Wind-fanned flames swept through a string of CPR box cars and part of the stockyards at Lethbridge Sunday, causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Every piece of fire equipment available in the city was rushed to the scene, when the four-alarm blaze broke out about 3.30

Although hampered by a 50-to-60-mile-an-hour wind, firemen managed to prevent flames from reaching a pen containing 200 head of cattle.

The blaze was under control in about one hour.

Eight box cars and a vacant portion of the stockyards were demolished by flames which spread swiftly as a result of the gusty wind.

CPR workmen detached the burning cars from the rest of the string, avoiding greater damage.

It is believed the fire started in a box car where some men were working with branding irons.

PUBLISHERS REFUND MONEY

Hoax War Story 'Biggest in History'

NEW YORK (CP) — A Calgary man invented a parable as an example of religious faith. And the story mushroomed into what a rueful publisher described as "the greatest hoax in the history of journalism."

George Dupre, a Second World War veteran whose story of wartime intelligence experiences led Quentin Reyonlds to write "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," admitted in a week-end interview that he had invented his tale of fortitude under Nazi forture to prove the value of faith in God.

"I felt that a story of tremendous self-sacrifice was a means of leading youth, and grown-ups too, to a new insight into what men can be capable of."

The story, told and retold at church group meetings and service gatherings, gained circulation in Canada and attracted the attention of the publishers of Readers Digest, who assigned Reynolds to write the story for the magazine's November issue. An expanded version subsequently appeared in book form.

Random House, publishers of the book, offered Sunday to refund the $2.75 purchase price to its 10,000 purchasers and said th y are reclassifying it as fiction. The magazine will carry a detailed explanation of the hoax in the January issue.

Doug Collins, a 33-year-old reporter for the Calgary Herald who spent eight years with British army intelligence, uncovered the hoax when he spotted technical flaws in the story, confronted Dupre with them and got him to admit the falsehood.

"I honestly felt I had a message," Dupre said in his weekend interview. "I guess the story just got bigger than I was. I told it and then told it again, always adding a little, always making it a little better."

Dupre, shaken by the effects of his deception, is under a doctor's care in Calgary.

Reynolds said he was shocked and saddened to discover that the story was "a fantastic hoax."

DeWitt Wallace, publisher of Readers Digest, said he met Dupre only once and was struck by him as "a man of integrity."

The Good Neighbors

THERE WAS MUCH MORE than rhetoric in President Eisenhower's speech in Ottawa last week. He seemed to be using the Canadian Parliament as a sounding board to reach not only the Canadian people but his own. And as if he had suddenly seen a new vision of Canada when he confronted it at first hand, he proposed the joint continental defense and economic management of the two great North American nations.

In that purpose the President's determination to give Canada a fairer deal in the American market was unmistakable. Almost repeating the statements of the Canadian Government in the Speech from the Throne a few days previously, he condemned barriers to trade, said they often shackled instead of protecting a nation's economy and warned the free nations that they could achieve prosperity only with a high exchange of goods between them.

Those words were directed clearly at the American people and Congress, more particularly, it is to be assumed, at the protectionists of the Republican party. No statesman on foreign soil could have gone farther in commiting himself to the very sort of policy which Canada is following.

The President was equally candid, practical and constructive in his approach to the problem of the St. Lawrence seaway, which has long been a source of friction between the good neighbors. He chose a Canadian setting for a clear announcement that, despite the delays and the obstruction of past years, the United States can and will participate in this scheme to carry ocean shipping into the centre of the continent—a scheme vital, he says, to American defense and economic development.

In the field of continental defense Mr. Eisenhower spoke with the authority of an eminent soldier. His view that neither the United States nor Canada can be successfully defended without complete co-operation is not new. It became day-to-day policy with the signing of the Ogdensburg Agreement, in the first years of the last war. Since then, however, the whole technique of war has been revolutionized and America—especially its northern half—exposed to airborne weapons of unimaginable destructiveness.

It is in relation to such weapons that joint defense must thenceforth be planned and no doubt is being planned. If the details must be secret for security reasons, the former soldier, speaking now as a statesman, lays down the only possible basis on which the two nations can work together in their own safety. They must be, he says, "equal partners."

That Canada is prepared to accept the resulting responsibilities was proved a few hours before Mr. Eisenhower arrived in Ottawa when the Canadian Government announced that its defense program must go ahead without reduction or relief to the taxpayers.

If there is indeed equal partnership in the field of defense it has yet to be fully achieved in the field of business. Mr. Eisenhower certainly has returned to Washington with a clearer view of Canada's unbalanced trade with the United States, its fears of protectionist pressures in the Congress, its desire for a better deal in the American market. Nevertheless, the President was quite right in saying that economic co-operation so far had greatly strengthened both nations, and he could properly have added that the American market, far more than any other factor, has lately carried Canada to an unprecedented peak of prosperity.

Taxes Are Going Up, Not Down

THE GOVERNMENT OF BRITISH Columbia could usefully read the latest announcement of the Government of Canada—there is to be no substantial reduction in the nation's defense costs during the next year. For reasons which few will question, the Canadian people must continue to bear the heavy cost of national safety. That being so, it is the obvious duty of all provincial and municipal governments to keep their taxes at the lowest possible point, since one taxpayer, the Canadian citizen, pays all taxes, whether they are collected through one channel or another.

But the British Columbia government is raising taxes. With an extraordinary and brazen disregard of the facts, Mr. Bennett tells the electors of Victoria that taxes are being reduced and that Mr. Gunderson should be rewarded for this achievement by election to the Legislature. In fact, taxes are going up sharply and Mr. Gunderson, as minister of finance, is primarily responsible for them.

Mr. Bennett says that taxes have been cut by $3,000,000 a year through the exemption of dollar meals under the sales tax, a fractional cut in hospital insurance premiums and a 10 per cent fall in motor licenses.

All that is true, but Mr. Bennett conveniently forgets to mention the other relevant figures. He forgets, for the purpose of his by-election campaign, that the government has imposed a substantial new tax of 10 per cent on the timber and mineral industries; it has provided for taxes on the machinery and equipment of all business in municipalities (the most inequitable tax imaginable, since it will heavily tax some enterprises which use machinery and lightly tax others, with more profits, which need no machinery); and finally the government has imposed a drastic new tax on liquor sold by the glass.

All these will add up to a new burden of $23 millions, accordin, to Mr. Laing, the Liberal leader—$5 millions from logging, mining and timber licenses; $5 millions from liquor; $10 millions from revision of assessments to 75 per cent improvements, as estimated at the recent UBCM convention; and $3 millions from the machinery tax, a CMA appraisal.

Whatever the precise amount, one fact is crystal clear: it will be far in excess of the reductions claimed, and will be a grievous new tax load for the people of B.C.

It is the people as a whole and not a few rich men who will pay the increased taxes. For surely Mr. Bennett will not try to tell us that the business organizations required to pay the taxes in the first place will not hand them on, to the greatest degree possible, in the price of their products and services. In the end it is the ordinary citizen who pays. And under the Bennett government the ordinary citizen of British Columbia will pay far more taxes than the citizen of any other province.

This is the Gunderson policy on which the electors of Victoria must vote. By voting for the minister of finance Victoria would approve the tax increases already imposed and encourage him to impose others. By voting against him they would register such a formidable and shaking protest against taxes that the government would hardly dare to raise them again and, if it were wise, would try to reduce them, as the Social Credit party promised from the beginning.

Liquor Is Fair Game

BRITISH COLUMBIA EVIDENTly is taxing liquor higher than any other province in Canada. As the latest figures show, the per capita profit on the liquor business here is about $18.75 a year, as against $6.63 in Ontario, $5.30 in Quebec, the other two large provinces. The profit in the other provinces varies between $14.23 in Alberta and $4.80 in Newfoundland.

These are only rough measurements because they take no account of the actual amount of liquor drunk. But it cannot be denied that liquor taxes, in the form of government profits, are higher in British Columbia than elsewhere. In this field, as in total taxes, we continue to maintain the doubtful distinction of being the highest-taxed part of Canada.

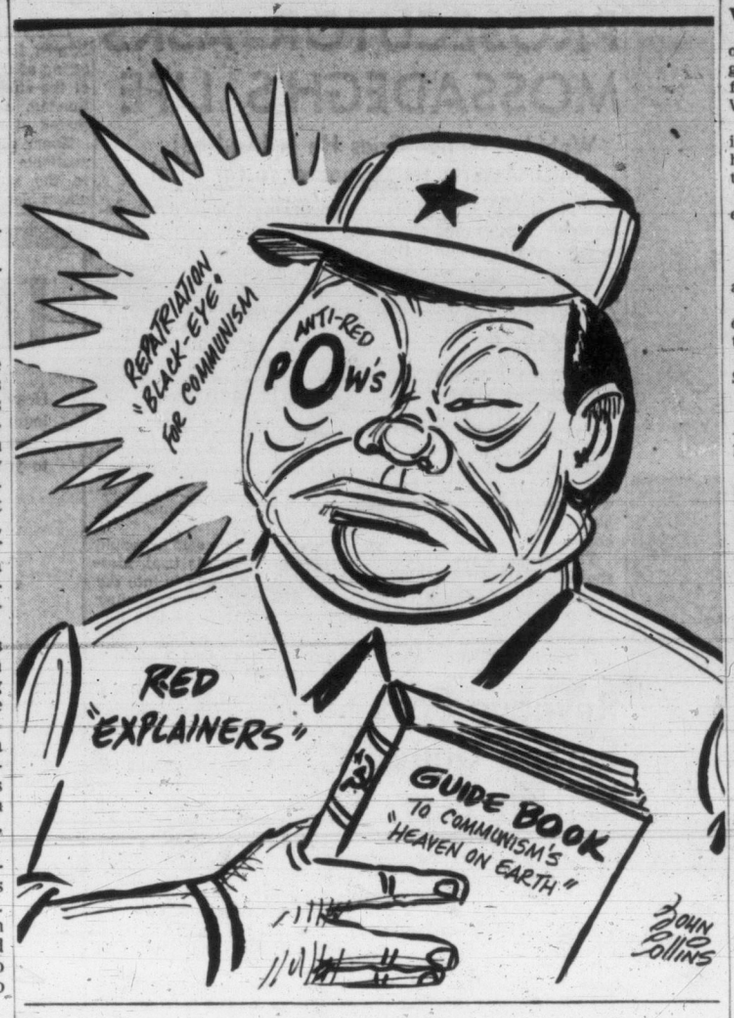
But the Bennett Government is not satisfied with its present liquor taxes. It is sharply increasing them with its new levy on all drinks sold by the glass in clubs, in the proposed cocktail bars and licensed restaurants, plus a similar tax on food sold in night clubs and cabarets.

Mr. Bennett has misunderstood or misrepresented the effect of the new tax. He says it is an increase of only 7 per cent over the 3 per cent sales tax, forgetting that it is to be applied to every drink out of a bottle. The result in fact is a new tax of about 87 cents per bottle of rye, or an increase of 625 per cent over the sales tax.

Liquor, the Government holds, is fair game for the tax collector. No doubt it is, since no one is compelled to buy it and many people would be better with less or none of it. But the new tax, on top of the existing profits and the sales tax, carries the theory of taxation to an absurdity. It makes certain that British Columbians will continue to be taxed for liquor far more than other Canadians. It also increases the Government's dependence on this source of revenue, a highly unreliable source in any but good times.

Moreover, by making drinks by the glass too expensive for most people to buy the Government's policy—whether designed for this purpose or not—is likely to undermine the whole purpose of the new liquor system and the will of the people who approved it by plebiscite.

Is My Face Red?



Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

WHEN policemen test a driver's breath by making him blow into a balloon and then assaying the alcoholic content of the sample, they are able to prove how much alcohol he has on his breath, that is all. For a magistrate or judge or jury to draw definite conclusions from the amount of alcohol is quite another thing.

Brock

The amount can never prove how any particular man reacts to the given amount. Even the same man will react differently at different times, depending on:

1. The amount of food taken, and when;
2. The amount of fat in the food;
3. The state of his health;
4. The state of his mind, including his emotions;
5. The nature of the drink;
6. Smoking, fresh air, etc.

THERE are other things to consider, too. As for the difference between any two men, there is the all-important matter of the way their minds and bodies react to drink. And this is not always a mere question of health, for some very unhealthy people are almost unable to get drunk and some very healthy ones get drunk all too easily.

Then, too, there is the question of how a man drives after one drink or many drinks. Some men, while technically sober, become careless after a single drink, while others become laughably careful after several drinks. I knew a man who drove six miles in low gear, right through Vancouver, after being warned by his host to go home carefully and to look out for the sharp dip in the host's driveway. He was obviously a bit tight, but he drove far more carefully than when on the wagon.

MY FATHER knew a German geologist who simply couldn't get drunk, or even mildly optimistic. All his life he had tried, and it was a real sorrow to him, for he wanted to see if he was missing anything. (As I say, he was a scientist.) He was complaining about this at the Geological Congress of 1913, and his fellow scientists told him they might fix him up. They took an enormous beer-schooner, that held something more like quarts than half-pints, and they filled it right up with several liqueurs of various colors and different specific gravities.

It was on the lines of those striped drinks called pousse-cafe or barber's pole, but they are little toys and this was on a gigantic scale. He tossed it off as if it were an ounce or less, a mere dram. Even then he didn't experience what he was after, for though he fell like a log a few minutes later and was still in a trance next morning, he didn't have even the slightest intervening stage of being intoxicated. In the usual sense of intoxicated, I mean, for he was poisoned all right.

NOW, supposing this man drank a couple of quarts of whisky, which was child's play to him, and, while still as sober as the day he was born, he was asked to blow into a police balloon, the resulting analysis would be enough to jail him for a long stretch. This would be "scientific" in the loosest modern sense, but it would be the very opposite of real science. It would also be a gross miscarriage of justice.

Ah, you will say, but he was a freak. Freaks are (a) very rare, and (b) meant to suffer in the common good. To be sure he was a freak. But his dubious gift is shared, in smaller measure, by a great many men, who are only semi-freaks. Do you want to send them all to jail too? And if even one man goes to jail unjustly because of unscientific science, that is a very great crime on the part of a smart-aleck society.

EASY STREET

I HEARD a school principal who was bold enough to say he thought children were much improved by a few frustrations. Most mothers who heard him were deeply shocked, and I dare say most teachers were too. Yet all he was doing was agreeing with Harold Nicholson, who once said (probably quoting somebody else) that a good education teaches you to surmount difficulties. In other words, you must have some difficulties to surmount, by way of training.

And if this is true, as I am sure it is, what a tragic saying it is. For today both the parents and the teachers do their best to abolish difficulties. It is one thing to blindfold and shackle a child. But it is quite another to push him around in a wheel chair.

BUTTERBALLS

MY CHILDREN were given some fudge, by a kindly but misguided friend. To keep them from damaging themselves I ate a lot of it myself. My wife asked me if I had tried it yet, and I said oh yes . . . it wasn't too bad if you spread lots of butter on it. She was shocked by this, and I said butter on chocolate fudge is nothing. "I have even put butter on good rich shortbread. Than which . . . . . ." "How perfectly revolting and unlike," says she. "Talk about Dagwood! You have invented the Than Which sandwich."

As Our Readers See It

VICTORIAN No. 3

Victorian No. 2 certainly hits the nail on the head when he says that Victorians generally have nothing but contempt for the Social Credit broadcaster Don Wilson over CKDA.

The subject matter re Gregory's nomination as stated by Wilson shows how hard up he must be for something to talk about.

Speaking of nominations for this by-election. Questions:

1. Who nominated Gunderson?
2. Was there a nominations meeting?
3. Did they call for further nominations?
4. Was not the whole thing cut and dried weeks before without submitting the matter to the rank and file Socreds?
5. Is not this absolute proof of a party Socred machine?

Can any Socred explain?

VICTORIAN No. 3.

RECALLING REV. ROBT. CONNELL

The new practice of political parties publishing the pedigrees of their proteges is intriguing, but the effect should not be spoiled by inaccuracies.

The statement made in a recent Liberal Party quarter-page advertisement that the CCF has never elected a candidate in Victoria is quite untrue.

The present Liberal candidate was probably about 17 years old when Rev. Robert Connell was elected in Victoria to represent the CCF.

Surely there must be someone in the Liberal Party old enough to remember that, also the federal election when Professor King Gordon missed by about 90 votes.

F. J. BEVIS,
President Victoria Oak Bay CCF Constituency Association.

SPEAKING FOR DEANE

"Veteran" of Nov. 3 raises a very important point when he asks for a record of a candidate's service to the country.

The record of Deane Finlayson as a leader in military, business and social life of a community reads like an extract from "Who's Who," and one whom the electorate should be proud to honor in the forthcoming election.

He has been an RCAF flying instructor and aircrew leadership training officer, past president Canadian Legion, first president V.I. Junior Chamber of Commerce, first president Upper Island Tourist Association, president V.I. Insurance Agents Association, chairman of Red Cross campaign, successful and respected in business; all this capped by high Christian principles.

Can any other candidate match this?

WEEDS

Social Credit are two words, which describes a new political philosophy, which has been obliged to borrow, but in most cases steal the good contained in the Liberal, Socialist, Communist and Technocrat philosophies.

It was then flavored with the original financial theories of Major Douglas, transplanted to Alberta by Mr. Aberhart, and blest with Christianity. It was intended to be the new political hope for Canada.

After being severely pruned in Alberta by Mr. Aberhart, a young sapling was planted in B.C., which, after some anxiety, finally took root.

Then a political storm broke out in B.C., which blew some Liberal, but mostly Conservative "poisonous weeds," into the area, where the Social Credit sapling was struggling to grow.

Like most weeds they quickly took root, and at the present time are so vigorous and strong in growth, that if they are not uprooted, will surely choke this rare, frail, Social Credit sapling to death.

Its life can be saved, however, but only by a Liberal and CCF "united front."

That is why "true" Social Crediters are desperately praying for assistance at this time, to help uproot these weeds, which are proving politically poisonous to everything else but themselves, and especially deadly to the few "true" Social Crediters now left.

For the benefit of those who may not have heard, let me inform them, that the particular poison I was choked with, was a "purge without trial or hearing."

COME BACK TO THE FOLD

May I, through the kindness of your newspaper, appeal to the former members of the Victoria Theatre Guild to return to the fold? The membership is down to a dangerous limit, yet we are not specifically appealing for money. If those members who always meant to, but through pressure of private and business affairs have neglected to do so, would re-enter, everything would once more be all right with the guild.

The subscription is still $4.50 for the season, and though one play ("Affairs of State") has passed, value for the subscription can still be had.

The season's activities cover a series of lectures on all aspects of the theatrical art, performances of one-act plays in December and January besides four more major productions, a party at Christmas and at the end of the season. A special performance for the welfare children will be given, and these children will also receive toys from the proceeds of the one-act plays in December. A reception after the opening performance of each major production has been arranged, and refreshments after each general meeting.

Improvements have been made in the theatre, and are still taking place.

The next production is on November 21—"The Lady Asks for Help," directed by R. W. L. Ritchie. Box office open Thursday, November 19, at Eaton's, and subscriptions may be purchased there, or at the Costume Shop, Cook and Fort, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

BRUCE BANYARD,
Chairman membership and house committee, Victoria Theatre Guild.

A TIME FOR SILENCE

I would appreciate it very much if you would allow me a bit of space to voice my opinion. I am a returned man and always attend "The Remembrance Day Ceremony" and it appears to me that on such a sacred occasion that the parents of children should not allow their kids to play around and make noise, as they were doing last Wednesday. When I went and told about 20 kids to shut up and keep quiet, I met with abuse. I never felt more like giving kids a good sound spanking than I did then.

I think our police are very slow in regards keeping kids quiet on so solemn an occasion, and would suggest that the police be given orders to do their bit in keeping kids quiet especially on Remembrance Day ceremony.

GEORGE EASTERBROOK.

IN APPRECIATION

The Remembrance Day Committee would appreciate it if you would publish this letter of thanks to all those citizens of Greater Victoria who so willingly gave their time and efforts to make this year's Poppy Day, November 7, a success.

We regret that the weather was so inclement for the taggers. Nevertheless, the results were very gratifying and we would like, through the medium of your paper, to express our appreciation to those who so kindly turned out to assist us.

We would like also to express our thanks to your staff, as well as that of CJVI and CKDA, and to the many merchants and businessmen who bought wreaths and poppies during the campaign.

W. S. OLIVER.
Poppy Day Campaign Manager.

Under the Crust of Germany

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Bonn

NOW that the doors have been closed to German unification and withdrawal of the foreign armies, the relations between Bonn and the other Western governments will certainly become very close.

Lippmann

But the relation can never be a simple one. For although the Federal Republic is already a great European power, the partition, the dismemberment, and the continuing occupation put it in an abnormal position. Even though the maintenance of things as they are is for the time being the policy of all concerned, it is impossible to imagine that the partition of Germany can last forever.

For this reason the current relations between West Germany and Western Europe, and the various projects and arrangements, are in their very essence provisional and tentative. They cannot be taken for granted as if they were the permanent structure of Europe. They require constant vigilance, effort, persistent tolerance and understanding, and much ingenuity to make out of what is so provisional something that will be good and durable.

SURFACE IMPRESSIONS

A casual American visitor to Germany can only too easily acquire a false complacency. The German material recovery since the war is brilliant.

The new parliament contains no revolutionary or irreconcilable party. There is no evidence now of important popular discontent with the regime. The Communists are negligible and the neo-Nazis, who would be the leaders of German disaffection, are for the time being fairly quiescent and without a large mass following.

Those who have reason to know agree that the internal situation is not likely to change as long as the industrial boom continues. While the boom lasts, the mass of the people are preoccupied with restoring their private lives, which were shattered by Nazism and the war.

It is, I believe, fair to say that the post-war Germany that the West admires and trusts is still like a fairly thin crust over a fluid mass. The leaders and policy makers inside and outside the government are an elite minority of men who withstood Nazism and yet survived it. They now have the authority and the prestige of government. But they do not have them unconditionally.

NO INSTINCTIVE FOLLOWING

They have revived a prostrate country and they have made powerful friends abroad for what was an outlawed country. But it would be superficial to suppose, and no serious German I have spoken to does suppose, that they have acquired the kind of instinctive and habitual following which the army enjoyed for some two centuries.

Down under the crust of what one might call the European and democratic elite, there are still the cadres of the old Officer Corps and of the Nazi party. Virtually all the men from thirty-five to fifty years of age who will now become the leaders of Germany, started or made their careers under Hitler, and at least with the consent of his regime.

Those from twenty-five to thirty-five years of age were educated and indoctrinated under Hitler. They are now supporting the new order and are taking their direction from the new elite who run it. But who is convinced, who is fully converted, who is conforming and who merely acquiesces, no one can say. No serious German believes that what is well enough in this time of boom and so soon after the shock of war could be counted upon in time of adversity.

It is this condition of things which accounts for the passion, and the overtone of almost desperate insistence, with which Adenauer and his intimate collaborators plead for the European Army and for European integration. They believe that this is the only way in which the German nation can be kept surely within a democratic order if hard times return.

LUCKY PEOPLE

I am one of those lucky people who manage to earn a reasonable living doing work which they thoroughly enjoy—it's work which, had I private means, I'd be happy to do for nothing, so as you can imagine, I find it full of interest. I am not one of those who spend their lives hoping they'll be left a fortune and they can then tell their boss exactly what they think of him.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Age of the Amoeba

WHEN George Orwell wrote his "1984" he preserved some measure of hope almost to the end. The central character was opposed to the dictatorship of "Big Brother," resented the concept of constant surveillance and sustained as long as possible some flickering spark of individuality.

Stott

The book was one of those chummy little numbers that sends you cuddling up to an iceberg to keep warm, or out to the graveyard looking for a few cadavers to join you in a jolly evening.

Now, according to a review by Leo R. Muray, European correspondent for the Manchester Guardian and other English papers, a German, Herr Robert Jungk, has wrapped up another book containing all the sensuous warmth and human appeal of an electronic brain.

The volume is called "The Future Has Already Begun" and, by the review, it seems to place the Americans in the ogre's role of world dominators.

A quote from Mr. Muray indicates the theme:

"The new totalitarian America is growing up fast around oil refineries, atom plants and restricted military areas in the south, southwest and west. The individualist ideal of the pioneer is being replaced by that of collective effort and discipline. The pioneer of today is a cog. The very methods employed to control nature are applied to him. And he is thrown away like any other tool that has done its job. The new ideal is that of the dependable, easily-controlled Mr. Average."

CHILLY

As you dip into Muray's description of the future that has already begun, you find chills running up and down your back, setting the hair at the base of your neck on end. The magnificent machines run the affairs of humanity. All that is required of man is obedience.

You find yourself wondering how far you can take present-day materialism as a guide of future developments. You think over the "essentials" of today's living, new cars, television, gadgets—anything, it seems, that will not only reduce physical but mental effort.

You begin to worry about the surface appreciations — the inclination to reduce humor to the wisecrack, the search for a ready-made formula to apply to life, the uneasiness held by so many people over nonconformity, the trend to let somebody else work out the solutions for you.

You recall comments of Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell to the effect that modern man assumes comfort to be indispensible. You start to look at your toes to see if they are losing their usefulness because you spend so much time traveling in a car. Years ago you were told that certain physical features would change because of non-use. And you can't help worrying that the same thing happens to brains.

You're seized with a fantastic nightmare of machine rooms where special, complicated equipment does your thinking, guides your emotions, reminds you when to change your socks, when to spank your children, and then does these things for you.

You remember the facetious remark made to a forester that he was in a dead business, that wood was out of date, that the time was coming when even trees would be made of plastic, which in turn would be made from other plastic.

You're carried away with the thought that the future that has already begun is going to dehumanize humanity—and there are one or two points in recent history that seem to lend support to that view.

NOT EVEN A COG

Soon you may be not even a cog. You won't have that sturdiness of form. You'll just be an improperly set lump of jelly. What a future!

Oh happy day! The Age of the Amoeba descends. The spirit is a contractile vacuole. Humanity feeds and breeds. Life becomes the sickening end of a Roman feast with soured wine and mechanical dancing girls moving to the impulse of a photo-electric cell.

Thousand Emergency Calls

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Of late there has been so much argument as to how many of the demands made on busy physicians to go out and call on a patient in his home are justifiable that a while ago three doctors, Drs. William T. Couter, Alvin T. Held, and Charles L. York, of Decatur, Illinois, started keeping records to see what disease they found when they were called to someone's home. Did it seem to them that the visit was necessary at the time, or could the patient have waited a bit and perhaps called later at the doctor's office.

Alvarez

The analysis of their experiences was published recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association. First, the doctors noticed that in just two-thirds of the calls the patient was a woman. Six hundred and thirty-six of the visits were made during the day, between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.; 206 were made during supper time, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; 111 were made in the evening, from 8 p.m. till midnight; and 47 were made after midnight.

Taking first for analysis the 47 calls made after midnight, it was noted that in 15 cases the patient needed to be seen right away, and in another case the patient should have been seen within 12 hours. In 27 cases the illness was not such as needed urgent treatment, and the patient could easily have waited until the following morning. The other four patients really shouldn't have bothered the doctor in the middle of the night.

VARIED AILMENTS

Among the persons who were really ill, the diagnoses made were appendicitis, great anxiety, asthma, backache, bronchietasis, cancer of the lung, cirrohis of the liver, a stroke, gallstone colic, a sore vertebra, congestive heart failure, a coronary heart attack, a painful menstrual period, a bad nosebleed, an upset stomach, hysteria, some broken ribs, influenza, migraine, pneumonia, pleurisy, a kidney stone, tonsilitis, and a urinary tract infection.

The doctors concluded that in 62.2 per cent of all the cases the patient's illness was not urgent; he or she could have waited and gone to the doctor's office. A few patients called the doctor to their home just because it was not easy for them to go to the doctor's office. There were 25 per cent of the total group who could easily have gone to the doctor's office instead of calling him out to the house.

An analysis of all the visits showed that the commonest troubles were respiratory, and consisted of colds, influenza, tonsillitis, bronchitis and pneumonia. There were, also, cases of upset stomach, anxiety states, heart failure, acute back pain, urinary tract infections, coronary heart disease, gallstone attacks, strokes, and attacks of asthma.

There were four cases in which the patient died before the doctor could get to him; but each time the telephone summons was so urgent that the call was answered within 15 minutes. The impression gained was that many patients now add to the doctor's burden by calling him to the house when they could just as well go to his office.

To those people who feel like sitting right down and writing me an abusive letter, I would suggest that they stop a minute and note that I did not write the article; I am just quoting the Decatur doctors.

Incidentally, it often amuses me to get a letter from some person who, after reading a column of mine, sat right down and wrote me a blistering letter. What I like is that, after getting the scolding off his or her chest, he or she feels so much better than he or she says, "well, really, I guess you are a nice fellow, and I am sure you meant well, and maybe you are right, and anyway, I love your column, and do keeping writing it!"

It makes me think of the farmer out west who, around 1900, is said to have bought a Ford which was shipped out to him in a big box. When, on unpacking the box he could not find the crank, he sat down and wrote Mr. Ford a red-hot letter, asking him what sort of a business man he thought he was. Then, at the bottom of the sheet, he added, "P.S. Excuse; I find the crank."

TELESCOPIC LENSES

According to a note in the Journal of the American Medical Association, telescopic lenses have long been used to improve very defective vision. The magnification can be made from two to eight times for close reading. Such glasses are useless if the visual spot in the back of the eye is seriously injured. Then the person will see poorly no matter what type of glasses are made for him.

Unfortunately, with telescopic glasses of high power, the field of vision is so small that reading is difficult.

ABOUT LETTERS

Because during November I'll be the guest of the doctors in Hawaii, I beg that you good people do not write me for a month. And when you start writing again, please ask only one or two brief questions.

Please do not ask me for diagnosis and treatment. I must not try guessing. And, once again, I must remind you that I cannot reply to letters unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

B.C. Pulp, Paper Workers to Vote On New Contract

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Voting is scheduled to start this week on a two-year contract for some 5,000 pulp and paper workers in the province.

The contract was hammered out last week after the men at nine mills voted to go on strike to back up their wage demands. The contract calls for a retroactive five cent an hour wage increase and further increases of two cents later this year and in May of 1954.

Union spokesmen said the ballots would be counted November 25.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Winnipeg Hold-Up Men Truck Away $5,000 in 300-Lb. Safe

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two men held up the night clerk at the Curtis Hotel in suburban East Kildonan early today and escaped with a 300-pound safe containing more than $5,000 in cash. They also took more than $100 from the desk cash register.

The pair dragged the safe from the manager's office, out the back door and into a waiting vehicle.

Night clerk Alex Nelson, 40, said he was working at the desk when he heard a knock at the locked front door of the hotel. As he opened the door, Nelson said he was grabbed and a gun poked in his back.

After rifling the cash register, the two thugs tied Nelson's hands and feet, then dragged the safe from the premises.

The method used by the thieves was almost identical to the first time the hotel was robbed shortly after it opened in July, 1951.

FLY IN IRON LUNGS

BOSTON (AP) — A dozen iron lungs were sped to Edmonton by two RCAF planes during the night for use in a polio outbreak.

The C-119 planes left Logan airport, Boston, Sunday night and were scheduled to arrive in Edmonton early today after a fuel stop in Montreal.

WARM ON PRAIRIES

WINNIPEG (BUP) — November weather records tumbled today as the prairies basked in temperatures between 20 and 30 degrees higher than the seasonal normal.

Brisk westerly winds fanned balmy air in from the Pacific, and the band of pleasant weather was sweeping down to the Lakehead.

Moose Jaw and Estevan in southern Saskatchewan were the hottest points on the plains Sunday, both registering temperatures of 65. Regina had a new record high of 63 and Yorkton, Sask., recorded 61 degrees, to beat the old mark of 42 set in 1948.

The mid-November heat wave struck as far north as The Pas, Man., where an all-time high of 55 for this time of year was recorded.

The same weather pattern gave most of Manitoba its warmest mid-November in history, although Winnipeg's reading of 60 was one degree below the record high for this time of year.

WARM WEATHER BLAMED

WINNIPEG (BUP) — The Manitoba health department today blamed abnormally warm November weather for the 1953 polio epidemic which had been expected to end more than a month ago.

Three new Manitoba polio cases were reported, two of them in Winnipeg. They boosted the province's 1953 toll to 2,267 cases, with 82 deaths.

Alberta reported 47 new cases during the past week, most of them in the Edmonton area. They raised the toll for this year to 1,159 cases and 80 fatalities.

NEED NEW MARKETS

REGINA, Sask. (BUP)—The Saskatchewan wheat pool today urged the federal government to open trade negotiations with all countries in the world where there were potential markets for Canadian agricultural products.

The proposal was coupled with a suggestion that trade pacts be signed with nations which would provide for Canada's acceptance of soft currencies against unfavorable trade balances.

The resolution, adopted at the close of the wheat pool's 10-day annual meeting, warned that increased production would lead to further surpluses unless there was an immediate expansion of agricultural markets or new ones opened.

Mapledell Towed Back To Vancouver Port

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 10,000-ton Canadian Pacific Steamships freighter Mapledell was towed back to port here Sunday after burning out a bearing.

The Mapledell spent Saturday night anchored outside the harbor, then called for tugs. Bound for Seattle and the Orient, she is expected to sail Tuesday.

The Mapledell is sister ship to the Maplecove, object of a high-seas drama last Christmas when she was towed here after breaking her rudder 800 miles at sea.

ON SUNDAY, TOO

NEW YORK (UP) — Three armed men walked into a Queens, N.Y., bar and grill Sunday, tied up a porter, leisurely mixed themselves a round of drinks and then left with $4,000 in cash and 21 cases of liquor valued at $2,500.

★ ★ ★

PORT ALBERNI — Lower than average demand for Douglas fir plywood has resulted in curtailment of production at Vancouver and Port Alberni plywood mills, MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. has announced.

Delay in selling the 1953 wheat crop to Great Britain has caused the lack of buying in the prairie provinces, the company said. About 500 employees are affected by the reduction.

Whitney's Protest Navy Semifinal Win

Navy 6, Oak Bay 5

One of the wildest football games ever seen in Victoria will be replayed tonight in the committee rooms of the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League.

League officials will meet to rule on a protest lodged by Oak Bay Whitneys' coach Don Higgs after Navy defeated Oak Bay 6-5 Saturday in a riotous sudden death semifinal at Heywood Avenue.

Higgs is protesting an official's decision in the fourth quarter that may have prevented the Oak Bay club from turning in a tremendous upset over the undefeated league champion Navy squad which won its seventh straight game.

With the score tied at 5-5 midway through the final quarter, Navy was in possession at mid-field. Navy quarterback Cam McIntyre tossed a pass to end Mike O'Conner who reached for it on the Oak Bay 30. As the ball hit his hands, O'Conner was tackled by Oak Bay's Gary Webster. The ball slithered from O'Conner's hands and Whitney safety-man Barry Caviness gathered it in and streaked to the Navy seven-yard line before he was hauled down.

However, the play was nullified when umpire Johnny Bing ruled pass interference, giving the ball to Navy at the point of the tackle.

Bing had raised his hands to signal interference and referee Bob Webster, unable to see the play, blew the whistle when he saw Bing's hands go up.

"We use the hand signal system and only one whistle," Webster said today. "Although I did not see the actual play as I was watching for roughing of the passer, I saw Bing's hands raised so I immediately blew the whistle.

RULING EXPLAINED

"Bing ruled pass interference because he felt that O'Conner had been tackled in such a way that he had been prevented from getting his hands on the ball."

Oak Bay's protest is that the interference was wrongly called and that the whistle should not have been blown.

It was that call that supplied a bitter ending to a game which had produced a frenzy of excitement for the 1,500 fans.

Oak Bay, winless during the season, were led on offense by stocky fullback Red White and on defense by the sensational line-backing of Leo Kozak.

Oak Bay struck quickly for its major when White, taking a hand-off at mid-field, sliced through right tackle and fought his way to the Navy three before being knocked out of bounds. On the next play White cut around end for the score. Ken Higgs' convert attempt was low and Oak Bay held a 5-0 lead at the half.

Navy's powerful backfield finally started to roll in the third quarter and after being stopped four times inside Whitney's 10-yard line, tied the score when fullback Dave Burck powered over from two yards out. Doug Brown's convert attempt was wide.

WINNING POINT

Climax came when, with the one-minute flag up, Navy pressed into Oak Bay territory. On the last play of the game, Navy tried for a field goal with O'Conner kicking. The kick was low but rolled into the end zone, the ball hit the fence behind the end zone, where it was ruled dead for a single point, giving Navy the victory.

The teams came close to a free-for-all in the second quarter when Oak Bay's Bill Mayzes tackled Navy's Eric Padmore near the sidelines. Padmore slapped Mayzes, who answered with a punch, and both players were tossed out of the game.

Chicago Bears 27, Washington 24.

Gathering of the Grid Clans

Football in general, and the Vancouver Lions in particular, were the topics of discussion Friday when Lions officials feted local football dignitaries and businessmen at a booster luncheon. The wing-ding was thrown to promote interest in the Western Football Union's newest entry and it was decided that a booster club would be formed in Victoria. Seen here examining a Lions membership form are, front row, left to right, Vic Spencer Jr., Lions executive member; Lions president Art Mercer; Seth Halton, Victoria Junior Canadian Football League president, and Ralph Pettersen, league manager. Back row, VJCFL vice-president Norm Lange, VJCFL publicity director Bert Buller, and Annis Stukus, coach and general manager of the Lions.

ESKIMOS ELIMINATED

Jacobs Bomber Star In Sensational Win

Winnipeg 30, Edmonton 24
(Winnipeg Wins Best-of-Three Series 2-1)

EDMONTON (CP)—Indian Jack Jacobs has proved beyond doubt that he has no peer, in western Canada at least, when it comes to breaking up football games with his strong passing arm.

The last dissenters, who claimed Jacobs passed too much, would have to agree after the tall Oklahoman's amazing display Saturday night which led Winnipeg Blue Bombers to an uphill 30-24 victory over Edmonton Eskimos and their first Western Interprovincial Football Union title since 1950.

Jacobs, as usual, filled the air with footballs. After excelling on defense in the opening half of the game, he worked the last 25 minutes as Bomber signal-caller and sprang 22 plays between the time he took over and the stunning dying-minutes climax which assured victory on a pass interception and 100-yard touchdown run. All but two of those plays were passes.

In that brief period Jacobs threw 20 of Winnipeg's 28 passes in the game, made 14 of their 16 completions and accounted for 226 of their 286 yards gained through the air. All this produced three converted touchdowns on passes alone, for half of Bombers' point total.

CROWNING BLOW

While Jacobs revelled in his often full-time defensive role, at which he is a standout, many thought the crowning blow to his prestige was dealt in the opener of the final series against Edmonton when coach George Trafton had Jacobs handle the ball at quarter to run off plays called by Zaleski.

But when Bombers got desperate after going down 12-6 early in the third quarter Saturday, Jacobs was turned loose.

The former Green Bay Packer pitched touchdown passes to halfback Len Meltzer, Canadian end Keith Pearce and former Philadelphia Eagle end Bud Grant, the latter play going 60 yards. Halfback Jerry James got another major on a five-yard line buck.

But the turning point of the game arrived with two minutes to go and the score tied 24-24 after Bombers had closed a 12-point gap in the last quarter. Quarter Claude Arnold passed Eskimos downfield from their own 30 to the Winnipeg 21 and kept passing, both Arnold and freshman coach Darrell Royal neglecting to use powerful punting fullback Rod Pantages to kick for the tie-breaking point.

Dave Skrien, a Minnesota halfback cut adrift before Oct. 1 by Saskatchewan Roughriders, intercepted an Arnold pass on the Winnipeg 10. He scooted up the far sideline with Eskimos vainly trying to catch him. At the Edmonton 50, Skrien lateralled to veteran negro halfback Tom Casey, who romped for the game-winning major with nary a hand being laid on him.

ADMITS FUROR

That was the game. Eskimo strategy on that one will be the subject of postmortems for years to come. Coach Royal himself later admitted his error and said if he had a chance to repeat the play he would have Pantages kick for points.

Eskimos, although badly riddled by key injuries, still resembled the potent club which won first place with ease, eight points ahead of the third-place Bombers.

They beat Bombers in every statistical department. But they could not cope with Jacobs when the chips were down.

MILES STARRY

All-star scatback Rollie Miles took an Arnold pass for one touchdown and passed to Texas end Tom Stolhandske for another, besides helping to account for almost two-thirds of Edmonton's 468 yards rushing and passing. Halfback Billy Vessels from Oklahoma, 13 pounds underweight after a serious back injury, and fullback Normie Kwong scored Edmonton's other two majors on running plays. Tackle Wilbur Snyder of Eskimos and Bud Korchak of Bombers converted all touchdowns.

Bombers now meet Toronto Balmy Beach, Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, in a sudden-death Grey Cup semi-final game in Winnipeg Saturday. It is the first time such a playoff has ever involved western clubs.

Bombers Get Huge Ovation

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP) — The Winnipeg Blue Bombers were heroes wherever they went today after winning the 16th Western Canada Football championship.

Thousands of deliriously happy fans mobbed Stevenson airfield at five o'clock Sunday.

Visibly moved by the ovation from the crowd estimated by police to top 6,000 coach George Trafton and his victorious squad flatly promised to take this year's Grey Cup.

The Bombers first have to hurdle the Toronto Balmy Beach ORFU champions, who play here in a Grey Cup semi-final Saturday.

Trafton, quarterback star Indian Jack Jacobs and Tom Casey, who scored the winning touchdown, were surrounded by cheering, back-slapping fans as soon as they stepped off the plane.

"We really upset Edmonton's applecart and we will go on to take that Grey Cup in Toronto," Trafton said. "Edmonton played a terrific game but we were too hot for them. With the way the team has been playing, Balmy Beach should be easy picking."

Bomber players said they "just couldn't believe we won."

Jacobs, one of the main factors in the Winnipeg victory, said, "It's kind of hard to believe, but we should come out on top in these next two games."

Winnipeg has not won a Grey Cup since 1939 but has sent more teams to the Canadian football finals than any other western club.

COUGARS ON GOAL SPREE; STAMPS HERE TONIGHT

Sam's Prophecy Comes True

Seattle 7, Calgary 5.
New Westminster 3, Calgary 1.
Victoria 6, Seattle 3

That "hat" that Sam Lavitt was talking about is beginning to bulge.

And it wouldn't surprise Sam and the Cougars if it spills over at Memorial Arena tonight, even though Calgary's 10-gallon stetsons will take a lot of filling.

It was before the first prairie trip that the Cougar defenseman prophesied:

"One of these nights we're going to bust loose, and when we do we'll get a hatful."

Sam was bemoaning the fact that early this year the Cougars couldn't put the puck in the net for missing. And it was this lack of scoring punch that was keeping them relegated to the rear echelon in the Western Hockey League flight.

There were indications here Friday that the cats were about—as Sam said—"to bust loose." They pumped five goals by New Westminster's Lucien Dechene, a total surpassed only once previously this year and that at Calgary.

Saturday at Seattle, the handwriting was clearer. The Cougars upped their output, defeating the Bombers, 6-3, to remain within two points of third-place New Westminster Royals who edged Calgary, 3-1.

Also, Colin Kilburn became the first Cougar to get a hat trick this year, scoring three in the Saturday night triumph.

Billy Reay got his fifth marker, a breakaway goal with the Cougars short-handed, to break a 2-2 tie after Kilburn had supplied the 2-0 lead. Kilburn then got his third early in the final period and Ed Dorohoy and Sam Bettio supplied the insurance markers.

Hebenton assisted on Kilburn's three goals for six points in two nights, Kilburn totaling five.

Vic Lofvendahl and Doug Macauley scored for the Bombers, Macauley getting two.

And for tonight's game with Calgary at Memorial Arena the stage should be well set.

The Stamps have been beaten thrice on their second western swing, their latest loss coming at the hands of the Bombers Sunday, 7-5, a victory which pushed the Bombers into fourth place one point ahead of the Cougars.

It was a weird contest in which the Bombers once led 6-0 only to have the Stamps score five goals and threaten to salvage a tie before the Bombers iced it late in the game on a goal by Barton Bradley at 19.25.

Saturday the Stamps, trailing 2-1, scored the tying goal at New Westminster only to have referee Lou Farelli disallow the counter, ruling that Frank Ashworth had kicked the puck in. Gordie Fashoway scored in the open net to consolidate the Royal victory.

The Stamps also lost Fred Hucul. The 22-year-old forward has been recalled by Chicago Black Hawks with whom he played in 1951.

Meanwhile, the league-leading Vancouver Canucks take their amazing record of having suffered only one defeat in 17 games to the prairies this week, risking the mark first at Saskatoon tonight.

Game time at Memorial Arena tonight is 8.30.

VALDES KAYOES NEUHAS

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Nino Valdes of Cuba, third-ranking heavyweight, knocked out German Heinz Neuhaus, the European champion, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round non-title fight Sunday night.

The bout, which Germans had hoped would project Neuhaus into the international picture, was witnessed by 17,000 in the Westfalenhalle.

Valdes, who weighed 203 pounds for the fight, dominated the brief contest. Neuhaus weighed 205 pounds.

Hogan Leads Tamarisk Golf Invitational

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (BUP) —Battling Ben Hogan today went into the final round of the second annual $3,500 Tamarisk invitational golf tourney with a two-stroke lead in the 54-hole open event.

The quiet Texan overcame a one-stroke deficit Sunday and matched his first-day score of 68. Bud Holscher, a San Diego sailor, the leader in the first round with a 67, dropped to third with a par 72.

Second with a 71-67—138 was Marty Furgol, of Lemont, Ill.

But in the pro-amateur half of the two-day event, professional Ellsworth Vines and his team of three amatures were first with a two-day total of 112.

Hogan's squad was four strokes behind in a three-way tie for fourth place.

Is there a doctor in the house? There was and he was much in demand after a rugged week-end in the National Hockey League.

Two fractured legs in Toronto Saturday night. Hypertension running rampant in Montreal.

The six clubs engaged in a half-dozen skirmishes.

Detroit Red Wings emerged with two wins over New York Rangers: 3-2 in New York Saturday and 4-1 in Detroit Sunday.

Chicago Black Hawks defeated Montreal Canadiens 3-2 in Montreal Saturday and gained a 2-2 deadlock with the Habs in Chicago Sunday.

Toronto Maple Leafs blanked Boston Bruins 2-0 in Toronto Saturday and tied the Bruins 1-1 in Boston Sunday.

DISASTER FOR BRUINS

The Toronto-Boston series was a manpower disaster for Bruins' coach Lynn Patrick. Veteran defenceman Bill Quackenbush suffered a fracture above the right ankle when he slammed into the boards after being checked by Toronto's Sid Smith in the second period. In the third, leftwinger Real Chevrefils broke his right leg just below the knee when he skated into Toronto defenceman Fern Flaman. Hospital officials say both players are in good condition but will be laid up for at least two months.

STEWART TIES GAME

Sunday night, Ron Stewart gave the Leafs their tying goal eight minutes after veteran Porky Dumart put the Bruins ahead early in the third period.

The Leafs remained in second place along with Detroit. They are two points behind the leading Canadiens. The Bruins are in fourth spot, three points behind Toronto and Detroit.

In New York 13,782 fans, the largest crowd of the season, packed Madison Square Garden to see the Red Wings score three goals in the third period to defeat New York 3-2. The scorers were Glen Skov, Vic Stasiuk and Metro Prystai. Wally Hergesheimer and rookie Camille Henry scored for the Broadway Blues.

SIXTH OF SEASON

Sunday, Gordie Howe and Red Kelly scored their sixth goal of the season to lead the second Detroit week-end victory. Johnny Wilson and rookie Bill Dineen scored the others.

The 14,412 fans in Montreal's Forum weren't happy with their Canadiens Saturday night. They clapped for action several times.

Four Teams Tied In AHL Scramble

Four of the six teams in the American Hockey League today were tied for second place, seven points back of pace-setting Buffalo.

Providence posted a 5-2 victory over last-place Syrcase in the only league action Sunday night to move alongside Cleveland, Hershey and Pittsburgh in the battle for the runner-up position.

TURPIN MARRIED

WELLINGTON, Eng. (AP) —Randy Turpin, 25, British middleweight boxing champion, and Gwyneth Price, 27, daughter of a Welsh farmer, were married Sunday.

It was Turpin's second marriage and Miss Price's first. Turpin's first wife divorced him five months ago.

BARNES SCORES BOTH GOALS

Esquimalt Booters Blank Courtenay Side

Esquimalt 2, Courtenay 0

Two first-half goals by Ken Barnes gave Esquimalt a 2-0 exhibition soccer victory over Courtenay Riverside hotel here Sunday.

First of a home-and-home series in aid of the injured players' fund of teams' respective leagues, the contest indicated that up-island soccer isn't too far removed from the local variety.

Perhaps finding conditions a trifle strange, Courtenay appeared ill at ease in the first half, but not so after the intermission.

Trailing as a result of Esquimalt's sounder play and Barnes' two goals, one at 10 minutes and the other at 41 minutes, the visitors "seemed worthy of at least one marker in the second half. This unfortunately, they were denied.

One of the game's more pleasing performances was put on by Courtenay's 18-year old Lodar Garseth, a Norwegian recently arrived on the Island. Junior Chalmers in goal also performed well as did Jack and Ray Smith at fullback.

RETURN GAME

City league secretary Don Gray announced following the match that a local team will repay the Courtenay visit, probably on November 29. Courtenay is in second place in the up-island league.

This week's games in the Victoria and District Football Association schedule finds Esquimalt meeting Wood Motors at Windsor Park, Saturday at 2.30, and Canadian Scottish clashing with Civil Service, and Victoria West meeting Heaneys on Sunday. Parks are yet to be arranged for Sunday's matches.

Scots Gain McGavin Cup Soccer Final

Scottish 3, Wood Motors 1.

Canadian Scottish footballers are probably recounting their blessings today and wondering if they've used up their quota in the McGavin Cup soccer series.

Though on their first-half display they deserved victory, the Scots today can thank a fluke goal for a 3-2 victory over Wood Motors Saturday and a berth in the cup finals against Civil Service. The game will be played Nov. 28.

Following two early goals by centre-forward Rookie Wright and a retaliatory counter by Andy Anderson, Scots received credit for the eventual winning marker when John Weldon of Wood Motors unfortunately put the ball in his own net while attempting to clear. Gordie Hobson was given the goal.

Tom Fallon scored Woods' second goal, taking Gary Crowe's rebound to bang it by goalie Doug Day.

John Moss, Woods' goalie, was injured when kicked by his teammate Jack Rodgers as Wright scored his second goal in the first half. He was replaced by Bob Newman in the second half and the move appeared to put new life in the motor dealers, who took the play away from the Scots, barely failing to force a tie decision.

Ti-Cats, Als Meet In Big Four Playoff

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats advanced into the Big Four playoffs for the fourth straight season Saturday when they closed out the 14-game schedule with an 18-8 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders. Tiger-Cats ended in a first-place tie with Montreal Alouettes, who downed the Toronto Argonauts 27-8 at Toronto.

The win, before a crowd of 18,000 at Civic Stadium, was the third in four seasons' starts for Tiger-Cats over the Riders, who switched from the straight T to split-T formations in an effort to salvage the game and a spot in the best-of-three final series.

TO MEET ALS

Tiger-Cats now meet the Als at Hamilton next Wednesday with the second game at Montreal on Sunday. A third, if necessary, will be played at Montreal on Wednesday, Nov. 25, just three days before the Grey Cup final at Toronto.

Tiger-Cats, Rough Riders and Alouettes entered Saturday's games in a first-place tie with 14 points each.

Gala Entries Close

Entries for the Greater Victoria Elementary Schools swim gala close tonight, gala officials announced Saturday. Originally entries were to have closed Saturday.

Detroit 14, Green Bay 7.
Baltimore 14, Philadelphia 45.

Clubmen Blank College Combines Edge Cadets

The Tillicum Athletic Club blanked Victoria College, 3-0, in a Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association junior division contest at Lansdowne Road Park Sunday.

Dave Sing, Jim McGhee and Cliff Newman each scored first-half goals.

In a junior division exhibition game, Combine Juniors came from behind to edge Royal Road Cadets, 4-3. Bradey scored all the losers' goals in the first half against counters by Combines' Dave Ready and George Wilmot. Herb Wetherall and Fred Curtiss scored for the winners in the second half.

Eagles defeated Sidney Community Club, 3-1, in a first division contest. Gordon Lever counted twice for the winners and Art Jones added a singleton. Martin Cooper scored for Sidney.

Keith Todd and Jerry Gladstone netted one goal each to give Canadian Scottish a 2-1 victory over Langford in another first division game. Barry Fisher tallied for Langford.

Ross Fletcher, Paddy McKintey, Bob Jay and Keith Hunter each scored once to give 5th B.C. Coast Regiment a 4-0 upset decision over Eagles in second division play.

Saturday, Gary Cooper notched a second-half marker as Black and White Taxi shut out Eagles, 1-0, in a third division game.

In fourth division play Eagles blanked Gorge Way, 2-0.

Eagles shaded Combines, 2-1, in fifth division action. Bruce Pollard and Ron McMicking tallied for the winners while Combines got their goal when an Eagles' player put the ball into his own net while attempting to clear.

Heaney's and Shepherd's Dairy battled to a scoreless draw in another fifth division contest and St. Louis College won by default from Delta Electric.

FLEMING, MORRISON ROUT COLWOOD PAIR

Bob Fleming and Hugh Morrison made their seventh successful defense of the men's city senior golf buttons by defeating Colwood's Laurie Kerr and George Andrews, 6 and 5, at Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday.

Fleming and Morrison, of Gorge Vale, were 5 up at the turn and finished with best-ball of three-under-par.

KINS WIN WITHOUT BAKER

Moderns Get Real Surprise

Kitsilano 49, Vic Van Isle 43
Kins 57, New Westminster 55

Victoria Kins probably caused some consternation in Vancouver when they defeated New Westminster Moderns 57-55 at Oak Bay Junior High School Saturday night.

Prior to the game, Vancouver papers had warned that Moderns would run into a tough Victoria team as both Johnny Clark and Norm Baker would be playing for Kins.

However, not only did Kins dispose of Moderns but they did so without either Clark or Baker, both of whom will join the club actively in the very near future.

Instead of Clark and Baker, Modern found themselves being maltreated by kids like George Denison, Buzz Jacklin and Gordy Jones.

The young Victoria club trailed in the early part of the game, moved into the lead before half-time, slipped slightly in the third quarter when they almost lost the lead and then staved off a last quarter rally by Moderns to take the two-point victory.

In the opener of the two-game card, Vic-Van Isle Kins senior women bowed to Vancouver Kitsilano, 49-43 after holding a one-point lead with three minutes left in the game.

SHOW FIGHT

Moderns ran up a fast four-point lead before Kins got untracked but Kins were ahead 17-11 at the end of the first quarter. Outscoring Moderns by two points in the second heat, Kins held a 31-23 cushion at the half.

Moderns, paced by the hot shooting of Bob Tole and Don Stokes, came back wtih a blaze in the third quarter, holding Kins to nine points while rapping in 17 of their own to cut Kins margin to 41-40

However, Kins once more took the lead in the early part of the fourth quarter, building a seven-point edge.

Again Moderns got hot, barraged Kins' basket and finally drew even with Kins when Jack Lewko broke away to dunk a lay-in that tied the score at 51-51.

Kins took a three-point lead on Buzz Jacklin's free throw and a jump one-hander by Jones but Leo Lizee put Moderns just one point down with a hoop. Dennison then slapped home a rebound and Jacklin canned a free throw to cement the victory.

Dennison, who just last year, was playing high school ball, was the outstanding player on the floor, adding a strong defensive chore to his brilliant offensive play that netted him 20 points.

Jacklin, working well in the bucket, poured in 13 points and gathered in a flock of rebounds off both boards.

Kins used 10 players and all but one got into the scoring.

Tole and Stokes lead Moderns with a dozen points each.

GOOD TRY

Van Isle Kins, Wally Yeamans' senior women's club, turned in a surprisingly strong exhibition in their first start of the season. It took a tremendous last quarter surge by Kitsilano to send the home club down to defeat.

Helen Pettigrew of the Victoria club was the top scorer of the night with 14 points, followed by Kits' Mernie Summers with 11.

Line-ups follow.

Kitsilano—Mernie Summers 11, Joyce Johnson 2, Betty Fernie 3, Lauris Innis 8, Ruth Sixstone 1, Eileen Campbell 2, Betty Bailey 9, Shirley Carswell 5, Eleanor Whyte 8, Joy McEwan. Total—49.

Vic-Van Isle Kins—Helen Pettigrew 14, Chris Boyd 8, Pat Mason 5, Fy Donaldson 7, Shirley Lewis 2, Flo Pickering, Cash Kennedy 4, Pat Cockburn, Bev Ross 1, Pat Wrighy 2, Viola Yeiman 8, Williamson. Total—43.

New Westminster Moderns—J. Lewko 7, B. Deprée, L. Lizee 8, B. McComb 2, D. Stokes 12, B. Tole 12, T. Mundell 4, D. Purves, G. Rilkoff 2, J. Knapp, G. Catheral 8. Total—55.

Victoria Kins—Buzz Jacklin 13, Bill Bamford 5, Gerry Parker, George Woollett 1, Don Hendry 4, Howie Tooby 4, George Dennison 20, G. Jones 2, Don Donahue 4, Ralph Anderson 4. Total—57.

HILLTOPS CRUSH BOMBERS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Saskatoon Hilltops, led in a blazing scoring spree by a pass-pitching quarterback with ice-water in his veins, smothered Vancouver Blue Bombers 50-6 Saturday in the sudden-death western Canada junior football final.

Their overwhelming win moved them into the Canadian final in Saskatoon next Saturday against the defending champion Windsor AKO, who defeated Verdun Shamcats 26-11 at Windsor.

United Scores Deserved Win

Victoria United 3, St. Andrews 1
By TONY BRISTOWE

It is a pleasure to report several things about this game played Saturday at Royal Athletic Park, in front of a crowd that was surprisingly small considering the mild afternoon.

It is a pleasure to report that United won deservedly, defeating St. Andrews, 3-1; that for the last 25 minutes United found a forward line with real punch; that we saw an outside right of real class in W. Logan of St. Andrews; and finally, it is a real pleasure to report a game handled throughout with fine judgment by Les Isaacson.

This was an exciting game, full of cut and thrust, in which both sides at times produced fine passing movements. The weakness, and it applied to both teams equally, was in the finishing, and many good chances of goals went begging.

United cured this to some extent towards the end, when after several changes, they came up with a line that read from left to right: Ab Travis, Herbert Milne, Wally Milligan, Hector McIntyre, Tim Walker. This looked the best we have seen yet, and is worth trying again.

United went ahead after three minutes when Harry Carruthers sent Whitey Turner away on the right. A neat pass caught the St Andrews' defense backpedalling, and all Milligan had to do was gather the ball and walk it in. He did this coolly, and placed his shot gently into the corner, well clear of goalie Bob Newbold.

AGAINST RUN OF PLAY

Milligan at this time was a tower of strength, but St. Andrews had more of the play. This was entirely altered after the interval and United were on top for most of the rest of the game. As often happens, though, St. Andrews scored next, when a long through pass split the United defense and Logan ran through to bang the ball in.

But that was all they could do. A high ball downfield, fumbled by the defense, let Tim Walker in to score Uniteds' second goal, and a piece of quick opportunism by Ab Travis, who nipped in to drive a loose clearance, gave them their third.

St. Andrews' forward line seemed to bog down against Uniteds' tight defense, but nevertheless Logan on the right wing was the outstanding player on the field. Time and again he beat Joe Robbins and his lobbed crosses into the goalmouth were a delight to watch.

College '1' Holds City Rugger Lead

Victoria College No. 1 and University School kept pace in the second division English Rugby League race Saturday.

The College remained in first place as undefeated by whipping College No. 2 24-8, while University School blanked Shawnigan Lake 17-0 to hold second spot.

Mike Rose and Dick Owens scored two tries and Sedge Richardson, Ellis Achtem, Malcolm Anderson and Ted Johnson one each for College 1. Phil Ney tallied for College 2.

Now unbeaten at home by Shawnigan Lake in 15 years, University School scored through tries by John Moffat, John Williams (2) and Julio Leon, a penalty kick by John Higgs and one conversion by Herby Barker. In a 35-pound division exhibition, John Madden scored two tries as Shawnigan Lake defeated University 6-0.

Beaches Win ORFU Title

TORONTO (CP)—The youth-inspired Toronto Balmy Beach whipped Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 24-12 before 7,000 fans Sunday to win the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union home-and-home total-points final 30-21 and advance into the Grey Cup semi-finals against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Beaches, with an average age of 22, wiped out a 9-6 lead Kitchener took in the final opener at Kitchener last Wednesday and powered to their 10th ORFU title since 1924.

CLIPPERS BOOST LEAD

Sailors Take Sixth Defeat

Nanaimo 9, Navy 5

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Coming from behind a 5-4 third-period deficit, Nanaimo Clippers Saturday night caught fire for five unanswered goals to hand Royal Canadian Navy from Victoria its sixth straight defeat in the Vancouver Island Senior Amateur Hockey League campaign when they submerged the gamely-fighting sailors under a 9-5 drubbing.

The sailors, still to register a win this season, defeated themselves when they resorted to roughhouse tactics in their efforts to down the powerful league leaders.

Leading 3-1 at the end of the first period, the tars took a briefly-held, 5-4 margin at 1:02 of the final panel. Playing fast and rough, the sailors elected to go after the man instead of concentrating on getting goals when chances offered.

Playing-coach Norm Jones in the Navy net withstood a veritable barrage of rubber in the opening frame as Nanaimo outshot the sailors 25-8. He kicked out rubber from pointblank range as his team-mates managed to slip three markers past goalie Walt Davis in the Clipper citadel. Clippers tied the score at 4-4 in the second.

The third period was highlighted by a fight between Ted Audett of Navy and Clipper coach Ed Shamlock after the pair collided hard in the corner.

Shamlock received a cut over the eye. Referees broke it up and an attempt to restart the feud in the penalty box was quelled with both players receiving misconducts.

DUGGAN LEADS PARADE

Duggan, a marked man all through the game, managed to elude his check long enough to boost his point scoring total with three goals and a similar number of assists. Clippers' Duggan, Yesowick and Sutherland figured in six of the Nanaimo goals, Cliff Coulter sniped a pair for Navy, as did Paul Wannamaker. Art Riches got the other.

Hungary, Sweden Draw

Badgers Trip Illini; Irish Remain Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP) — Oklahoma assured itself a bid to the Orange Bowl Saturday by winning the Big Seven football title. But Illinois, trying to nail down a bid to the Rose Bowl, ran into a blank wall in Wisconsin. The underdog Badgers won 34-7.

So the Sooner become the first of the major U.S. colleges to grab off a New York's Day bowl game. They beat Helpless Iowa State into submission 47-0 and in the process won their 40th straight conference game. They've been beaten only by Notre Dame this year.

EASY FOR IRISH

Notre Dame and Maryland won with no great effort. The Irish polished off North Carolina 34-14 and Maryland shut out Mississippi 38-0.

Maryland has all but sewed up an Orange Bowl big against Oklahoma under the new agreement between the Big Seven and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

HUSKIES LOSE

UCLA became the strong favorite to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl by trouncing Washington 22-6.

Occasion was his recent election to presidency of B.C. Chamber of Commerce . . . R. B. Vancouver stock exchange recently has shown "remarkable growth" as a trading place for Canadian industrial shares, remarks the exchange's monthly bulletin. Shares of 42 industrial companies and seven chartered banks are listed on Vancouver board. In October the value of industrial shares was $826,170 — within reaching distance of the total of mining-share transactions, $846,188, and far ahead of the oil section's total, $614,642.

IKE SOLID ON CANADA'S FUTURE

Enthusiasm of the world's investors for Canada's industrial future will be rekindled by President Eisenhower's speech at Ottawa Saturday.

"To strive, even dimly, to foresee the wonders of Canada's next generation is to summon the utmost powers of the imagination," President Eisenhower said in the historic speech to parliament, reported word for word in Saturday's Victoria Times.

Canada "is a mighty reservoir of resources," said President Eisenhower. "Across it, at this moment, there moves an extraordinary drama of enterprise and endeavor. Canadians are rapidly building basic industries, converting waters into hydro-electric energy, scrutinizing the soil for new wealth, pushing into the barrens of the north for minerals and oil."

Canadian investors, big and little, have underwritten most of Canada's industrial development. Amazingly, the official figures show Canadians have provided nearly three-quarters of the billions now invested in Canada's future. President Eisenhower's enthusiasm for Canada's industrial future should encourage this happy trend.

TORONTO (CP)—Morris Motors of England, makers of Morris cars, have incorporated a Canadian company at Hamilton called Morris Motors (Canada) Ltd. The plant will service cars before distribution to Canadian dealers. The Bank of England has authorized capitalization of the new company at $1,000,000.

Nothing Stands Still...

A very long time ago a wise old philosopher observed that the only thing in the world that doesn't change is change itself.

This was just his way of saying that nothing in this world of ours is permanent . . . that all things are affected by change. Of course, with many things like rocks or oceans even slight change often takes centuries, but with other things change can, and often does, occur almost overnight.

Take business conditions for example.

In business, nothing stands still. Changes occur almost daily . . . and security values and investment opportunities change with them. Sometimes these changes are minor; at other times they are of widespread significance; occasionally they take place quickly, but more often they occur gradually over an extended period.

Keeping abreast of change . . . gathering, analyzing and interpreting information which affects security values . . . and helping clients plan and follow a sound investment course, is a big part of our business.

If you think you should be planning an investment program . . . if you are considering changes in your present program . . . or if you would just like information on which to base an investment decision, we invite you to consult us. You will be welcome in any of our offices . . . just write, telephone or drop in.

'TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY'

Roosevelt's Illness Was Evident at Yalta

By WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

(This is another installment of Volume VI of the war memoirs of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister. Other installments will be carried daily.)

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT died suddenly on Thursday, April 12 (1945) at Warm Springs, Georgia. He was 63. In the afternoon, while he was having his portrait painted, he suddenly collapsed, and died a few hours later without regaining consciousness.

Preceding chapters have have shown how the problems of impending victory rivalled in their perplexity the worst perils of war. Indeed, it may be said that Roosevelt died at the supreme climax of the war, and at the moment when his authority was most needed to guide the policy of the United States. When I received these tidings early in the morning of Friday, the 13th, I felt as if I had been struck a physical blow. My relations with this shining personality which had played so large a part in the long, terrible years we had worked together, had come to an end, and I was overpowered by a sense of deep and irreparable loss. I went down to the House of Commons, which met at 11 o'clock, and in a few sentences proposed that we should pay our respects to the memory of our great friend by adjourning. This unprecedented step on the occasion of the death of the head of a foreign State was in accordance with the unanimous wish of the members, who filed slowly out of the chamber after a sitting which had lasted only eight minutes.

All Nations Paid Tribute to F.D.R.

All the nations paid their tributes in one form or another to Roosevelt's memory. Black-bordered flags were hung in Moscow, and the Supreme Soviet, when it met, stood in silence. The Japanese Premier expressed "profound sympathy" to the Americans in the loss of their leader, to whom he assigned the responsibility for "the Americans' advantageous position today." The German radio said, in contrast, "Roosevelt will go down in history as the man at whose instigation the present war spread into a Second World War, and as the President who finally succeeded in bringing his greatest opponent, the Bolshevik Soviet Union, to power."

When Parliament met on Tuesday, April 17, I moved an address to the King conveying to His Majesty the deep sorrow of the house and their profound sympathy with Mrs. Roosevelt and with the Government and people of the United States. It is customary for the leaders of all parties to speak in support of such a motion, but there developed a spontaneous feeling that it should be left to me alone to speak for the Commons. I cannot find today words which I prefer to those I uttered in the emotion of this melancholy event.

"My friendship with the great man to whose work and fame we pay our tribute today began and ripened during this war . . .

"I conceived an admiration for him as a statesman, a man of affairs, and a war leader. I felt the utmost confidence in his upright, inspiring character and outlook, and a personal regard—affection, I must say—for him beyond my power to express today. His love of his own country, his respect for its constitution, his power of gauging the tides and currents of its mobile public opinion, were always evident, but added to these were the beatings of that generous heart which was always stirred to anger and to action by spectacles of aggression by the strong against the weak. It is indeed a loss, a bitter loss to humanity, that those heart-beats are stilled forever.

"President Roosevelt's physical affliction lay heavily upon him. It was a marvel that he bore up against it through all the many years of tumult and storm. Not one man in ten millions, stricken and crippled as he was, would have attempted to plunge into a life of physical and mental exertion and of hard, ceaseless political controversy. Not one in ten millions would have tried, not one in a generation would have succeeded, not only in entering this sphere, not only in acting vehemently in it, but in becoming indisputable master of the scene . . .

"At Yalta I noticed that the President was ailing. His captivating smile, his gay charming manner, had not deserted him, but his face had a transparency, an air of purification, and often there was a far-away look in his eyes. When I took my leave of him in Alexandria harbor I must confess that I had an indefinable sense of fear that his health and his strength were on the ebb. But nothing altered his inflexible sense of duty. To the end he faced his innumerable tasks unflinching . . .

". . . for us it remains only to say that in Franklin Roosevelt there died the greatest American friend we have ever known, and the greatest champion of freedom who has ever brought help and comfort from the New World to the Old."

My first impulse was to fly over to the funeral, and I had already ordered an aeroplane. Lord Halifax telegraphed that both Hopkins and Stettinius, were much moved by my thought of possibly coming over and both warmly agreed with my judgement of the immense effect for the good that would be produced. And later that Truman had asked him to say how greatly he would personally value the opportunity of meeting me as early as possible, and that he thought a visit for the funeral, if I had had this in mind, would have been a natural and easy occasion. Mr. Truman's idea was that after the funeral I might have had two or three days' talk with him.

Yielded to Wishes Of Many Friends

Much pressure was however put on me to stay in the country at this most critical and difficult moment, and I yielded to the wishes of my friends.

In the after-light I regret that I did not adopt the new President's suggestion. I had never met him, and I feel that there were many points on which personal talks would have been of the greatest value, especially if they had been spread over several days and not hurried or formalized. It seemed to me extraordinary, especially during the last few months, that Roosevelt had not made his deputy and potential successor thoroughly acquainted with the whole story and brought him into the decisions which were being taken. This proved of grave disadvantage to our affairs. There is no comparison between reading about events afterwards and living through them from hour to hour. In Mr. Eden I had a colleague who knew everything and could at any moment take over the entire direction, although I was myself in good health, and full activity. But the Vice-President of the United States steps at a bound from a position where he has little information and less power into supreme authority. How could Mr. Truman know and feel the issues at stake at this climax of the war? Everything that we have learnt about him since shows him to be a resolute and fearless man, capable of taking the greatest decisions. In these early months his position was one of extreme difficulty, and did not enable him to bring his outstanding qualities fully into action.

Truman Pledges To Continue Policy

To my first and formal telegram of condolence and salutation the new President sent a most friendly reply.

I wrote:

13 April 45

"Pray accept from me the expression of my personal sympathy in the loss which you and the American nation have sustained in the death of our illustrious friend. I hope that I may be privileged to renew with you the intimate comradeship in the great cause we all serve that I enjoyed through these terrible years with him. I offer you my respectful good wishes as you step into the breach in the victorious lines of the United Nations."

Mr. Truman assured me he would do everything in his power to forward the cause for which President Roosevelt gave his life, and to guard and promote the intimate solid relations between our countries which he and I had forged.

A very informative telegram from our ambassador reached me a few days later.

Lord Halifax to Prime Minister

16 Apr. 45

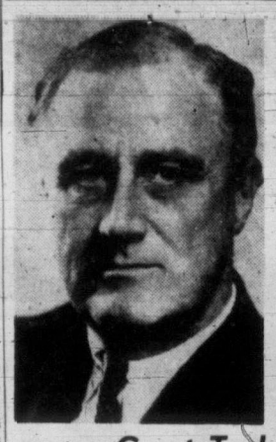
"Anthony and I saw Harry Hopkins this morning. We both thought that he looked rather frail and fine-drawn . . . He had not been greatly surprised by the President's death, and was thankful that he had not had a stroke and had lost power like Wilson. For some time he had noticed how much the President had failed. He had been able to do only very little work.

"He judged the President's death to have created a completely new situation in which we should be starting from scratch. One thing we could be certain of would be that the policy would be very much more the concerted action of the Senate. How this would work it was quite impossible to predict. Much would depend on his personal judgments of the people with whom he would be dealing.

"Harry thought, on the whole, it had worked out for the best that you had decided not to come over now. To give Truman a few weeks to find his feet was very much to the good. Meanwhile you could be exchanging personal messages, which would make him begin to feel he knew you. Anthony suggested that it would be better, especially if events went the way that looked likely, and if Truman came over to see the United States troops, for him to stop in London en route, which we should like also on general grounds, and which F.D.R. had promised to do. Harry liked that idea . . .

"As regards himself, Truman had asked Harry to give him notes on foreign and international policy, which Harry was doing, but he could certainly not carry on in his present job. Truman probably would not want him, and Harry anyhow would not do it. Truman's methods would be quite different to those of F.D.R.; he would conduct his own business, and there would be no room for Harry's particular line of usefulness. They had mentioned the future in a talk they had yesterday, but not much more than to say that they must talk again when Harry was well . . .

"It may be of interest that Truman's hobby is history of military strategy, of which he is reported to have read widely. He certainly betrayed surprising knowledge of Hannibal's campaigns one night here. He venerates Marshall."



Great Tasks Took Toll

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT . . . in pre-war days.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT . . . after Yalta.

To Stalin I said:

Prime Minister to Marshal Stalin

14 Apr. '45

". . . Ihave been greatly distressed by the death of President Roosevelt, with whom I had in the last five and a half years established very close personal ties of friendship. This sad event makes it all the more valuable that you and I are linked together by many pleasant courtesies and memories, even in the midst of all the perils and difficulties that we have surmounted . . ."

Marshal Stalin to Prime Minister

15 Apr. '45

"I have received your message on the occasion of the death of President Roosevelt.

"In President Franklin Roosevelt the Soviet people saw a distinguished statesman and a rigid champion of close co-operation between the three states.

"The friendly attitude of President Franklin Roosevelt to the U.S.S.R. will always be most highly valued and remembered by the Soviet people. So far as I personally am concerned I feel exceptionally deeply the burden of the loss of this great man, who was our mutual friend."

Eden, who was now in Washington, wrote:

Envoy Heartened By First Meeting

Foreign Secretary (Washington) to Prime Minister

15 Apr. '45

"The Ambassador and I had a talk with Stettinius shortly after my arrival this morning. Stettinius said that both Stalin and Molotov has shown signs of being deeply moved by the President's death. Stalin has asked Harriman whether there was any contribution he could make at a moment like this to assist to promote the unity of the great Allies. Stettinius said that fortunately Harriman had not at once replied "Poland," but instead had suggested that it would be a good thing if Molotov could come to San Francisco for the Conference. Stettinius had seized on this, but also that he should come to Washington first for conversations. An hour ago Stettinius rang me up to say that the Russians had agreed to this course and that Molotov was coming by an American aircraft which had been sent to bring him. I suppose therefore that he will be here by Tuesday, when I plan that we should embark upon the Polish issue.

"This is all good news, but we ought not to build too much on it, for it yet remains to be seen what attitude Molotov adopts when he gets here. At any rate, it is stimulating to have a chance to get to grips . . ."

And the next day:

Foreign Secretary (Washington) to Prime Minister

16 Apr. 45

"Edward and I paid our first call on the President this morning. He made a good impression . . .

"I . . . reverted to the subject of a meeting between you and the President, and said that the President would probably recall that President Roosevelt had planned to make an early visit to Europe, making London his first port of call. I knew that His Majesty and you and all His Majesty's Government would be much gratified if President Truman felt able to carry through this program. The President said that he would like this very much, but we should understand for the moment that he had a number of immediate duties to carry through here. He must deal with a number of urgent domestic issues, and he must also familiarize himself with the late President's policies, on a wide range of subjects. It was not therefore possible for him to give a definite answer now. I got the impression however that he would like to come, though it may be that the date will have to be later than President Roosevelt contemplated . . .

"My impression from the interview is that the new President is honest and friendly. He is conscious of but not overwhelmed by his new responsibilities. His references to you could not have been warmer. I believe we shall have in him a loyal collaborator, and I am much heartened by this first conversation."

I replied:

Prime Minister to Mr. Eden (Washington)

24 Apl. 45

"Much though I should like to see the President personally, I am reluctant to go to the United States in the next 60 days. It is very probable that the election will be on foot here before then. This we cannot tell until we can see more clearly the military results which lie before us. The most cordial invitation will, I am sure, be sent to the President by the King and by His Majesty's Government. I should think that 90 days hence would not be an inconvenient date, as the General Election will either have taken place or be relegated to October. This has not yet been settled.

"SOCRED" GOVT. and LABOUR—

The Social Credit Government was elected on the principles of democracy, to conduct the affairs of a democratic community and pledged itself to serve ALL the people. But that same Government refuses to see Labor Organizations and to hear their representations. What do you think of such a Government and what are you going to do about it?

Surely we should not, by electing another Socred candidate, confirm the Government's view that labor can be ignored! Again — surely it is hardly proper that any Government should tax one group at the expense of another! Social Credit taxes some groups more heavily than others, by enforcing deductions of Hospital Insurance premiums from wages and salaries, WHILE LETTING OTHERS GO FREE. Such a method of financing Hospital Insurance is obviously unfair and encourages "free riders" at the expense of those who DO pay. and what about Workmen's Compensation?

1 of 150 Canadians Face Term in Jail

Percentage Higher Than England and Wales; Overhaul of Probation System Indicated

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles dealing with the problem of probation in Canada. Figures quoted were obtained from data supplied by probation authorities, the Federal Bureau of Statistics and the Canadian Welfare Council.)

By DONALD A. NICKERSON

OTTAWA (BUP)—One out of every 150 Canadians will spend time in jail next year.

In round figures, that means more than 100,000 men, women, boys and girls will serve sentences behind bars. An astonishing fact is that Canada, with a population of just under 15,000,000 will commit to prison about three times as many lawbreakers as England and Wales, with a combined population of some 42,000,000.

In the eyes of social workers and others interested in rehabilitation of offenders, it's pretty generally accepted that more than half the Canadians sent to prison shouldn't be there at all.

Why the tremendous difference in committals between Canada and England-Wales? The answer would appear to lie in the simple fact that Canada, unlike her overseas sisters, has no full-fledged enlightened system or systems of probation that would efficiently serve our courts at all levels.

NOTEWORTHY RECORD

As an illustration of what a good probation program can accomplish, England-Wales cut committals from 185,000 in 1907 —the year the Probation of Offenders Act was passed—to only 34,825 in 1950. The record is all the more noteworthy in light of a greatly increased population over the 40-odd years.

In 1950—latest year for which accurate figures are available—33,929 persons were placed on probation in England and Wales. In the same year in Canada, 98,602 persons were sent to prison and a mere 3,631 others were put on probation.

It's true that some offences warranting a jail sentence in Canada can be settled in England by paying a fine. It's also true that some actions constituting an offence here are not so considered in England.

On the other hand, Canada, by and large, has no slums comparable with those in overseas cities to foster conditions that lead to crime.

"It must also be remembered that the probation system of England was introduced in 1907 and the advantage accruing to it has made their effect felt over 43 years," Daniel Coughlan, director of probation services in Ontario's attorney-general's department, said recently.

"The effect in England has been about 75 per cent rehabilitation whereas in Canada, with practically no probation facilities, we have had approximately 70 per cent recidivism (repetition of offences) over much of the same (1907-50) period," he added. "This means that there has been a residue of recidivism carried over from year to year."

U.S. Navy to Start Using Super Radio Transmitter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy will start official use Wednesday of what it calls "the world's most powerful radio transmitter," designed to make instant contact with ships and shore stations anywhere on the globe.

The station, which has been under construction since 1947, is located in the Jim Creek Valley of the Cascade Mountains of Washington State.

It has an output of 1,200,000 watts—which the navy claims is 22 times more powerful than any commercial station in the United States and twice the power of present military transmitters.

U.S. Presidential Candidate Guilty Of Tax Evasion

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A federal jury Saturday convicted attorney Vincent Halliman, 1952 presidential candidate of the Independent Progressive Party, on five counts of income tax evasion.

His wife, Vivian, was acquitted by the jury of five women and seven men, who debated 34 hours and 32 minutes before bringing in the verdict.

The couple were charged with evading $65,221 in taxes for the years 1946 through 1950. The jury found Halliman innocent of the charge for 1946, but guilty for the years 1947 through 1950 — including two counts for 1947.

Kiddies Cautioned About Sunday Playtime

Children using school playground facilities during weekends were cautioned today about making undue noise during Sunday hours when nearby churches are holding services.

The warning come from School Board Chairman Richard H. Reeve, who said there had been some co laint about [illegible] from children using Sir James Douglas playgrounds on Sundays.

Fairfield United Church is situated directly across from the school playground.

It has been the policy of the board to encourage children to use school playgrou during non-school hours, Mr. Reeve explained. It keeps them off the street.

"However, it has always been [illegible] they must conduct themselves in a proper manner and be responsible if any damage is done.

"We wish to remind them they must have consideration for others."

Son of Pioneer Physician, Dr. Thomas Jones Dies Here

Dr. Thomas Jones, son of a well-known Victoria pioneer family, died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday. He was 59 years old.

Born in Victoria on Oct. 15, 1894, Dr. Jones was the son of Dr. O. M. Jones, a surgeon in the Royal Navy, who settled in Victoria in 1887 and took an active part in the affairs of the city.

The present Jones building on Fort Street was named after the family and on this site stood the original family home.

Dr. Jones was educated in England. He returned to Canada and was studying medicine at McGill University, Montreal, when the First World War broke out. He immediately joined the army as an orderly and served with No. 5 Hospital Base at Salonika (Gallipoli). Dr. E. C. Hart of Victoria was commanding officer of the base.

After the war, Dr. Jones returned to McGill University where he completed his medical studies. He then served a few years with the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

While serving with the clinic, Dr. Jones made several trips to the Arctic during the summer months aboard the famous Hudson's Bay ship Nascopie.

He left the clinic and practiced in Vancouver and for two years at Powell River. He began practicing in Victoria in 1940.

Dr. Jones is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Phillip McLean Poaps, (Peggy), Ottawa; Mrs. D. H. Poaps, (Betty) Toronto; sisters, Mrs. Firth Quinton, Miss Ruth Jones; and one brother, David C. Jones.

Increase in Unemployment Continues Here

Women seeking jobs head the list at the Victoria National Employment Office, with the number of unemployed steadily rising and the number of unfilled jobs at an "unusually low" level.

C. A. Mudge, office manager, said there were vacancies for domestic workers who would "live in," but that most employers were looking for persons who would stay with them for extended periods.

There was no increase in the number of unemployed men during the week, he said, and most reported vacancies were filled.

An unemployed auto body repairman, meat cutter, plateglass installer, or salesmen having experience with adding machines, sewing machines, or insurance, will find a job waiting, Mr. Mudge stated.

How much Life Insurance should I own?

"How can I tell how much life insurance is enough for a man like me—taking into account my family situation and my earnings?

"In these days of high living costs, how long would my present life insurance take care of my wife and children?

"How can I make the dollars I pay in premiums go as far as possible in making the right kind of provision for them?"

SHIP SERVICE UPSETS PLANS OF RABBIT MEN
—headline.

No doubt this makes the rabbit men very unhoppy.

From Milnes Landing PO, Mrs. Dorothy Eddy writes to ask if there is room in the Old Jokes Home for this one.

"A young politician, between elections, was killing time by a visit to the dentist. Said dentist was suffering a broken heart, the result of an unrequitted love affair, and his mind was definitely not on his work.

"However, he told the politician he would give him gas, and then check over his bridgework.

"The anaesthetic was administered, the patient slept peacefully, and the dentist picked up his pliers. Absent mindedly, he began to pull the teeth, one by one, saying as he did so 'She loves me, she loves me not.'

"Several minutes, and 32 teeth later, the patient awoke, and the doctor asked him how he felt.

" 'Oh, I feelth juth fine,' he said. 'But, thay, that gath thure maketh you talk funny, doesthn't it'?"

I hasten to assure Mrs. Eddy her Old Joke will be taken care of.

There is a soundproof, air-conditioned room in the basement where her Old Joke may hide the rest of its life.

Heavens knows it should be taken out of circulation immediately.

You may accuse me of favoritism, but up to this moment, the choicest suite in the Old Jokes Home is occupied by the one about Ulysses, who was guest of honor at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon when he was briefly home from his wanderings.

He was seated next to the secretary-manager, who plied Ulysses with question after question.

Ulysses was getting rather tired of the whole deal when the secretary-manager asked: "In all your voyaging, don't you ever get seasick?"

"As a matter of fact, George," said Ulysses. "I've never been home long enough to get seasick."

Yuk, yuk.

It looks as though Old Vic will either have to get out of town, or shave off his whiskers and change his name to Young Dick.

The anonymous voice of Social Credit is cross with Old Vic, and the voice is mighty in its wrath.

Go into hiding, Old Vic. The Social Credits will get you if you don't watch out.

Fish Shoo Athletes From Courtenay Park

Boys Race Boats In Campbellton's Flooded Streets

Rising Reservoirs Overflow BCPC Dams

Young boys today are whizzing their outboard-powered boats merrily up and down the streets of Campbellton, two miles west of Campbell River village, but residents are hopeful that the flooding of Campbell River has reached its peak.

Drenching rain of the last 10 days forced water levels to the maximum in the B.C. Power Commission dams at Ladore Falls and Irene Pool, and they finally overflowed Sunday.

Eight families were evacuated from two auto courts at Campbellton, and one court has six boats available to take its remaining residents back and forth.

The power commission reported that on Thursday, Friday and Saturday it reduced flow in the river from 20,000 cubic feet per second to 6,000 cubic feet during the two or three hours of high water.

On Sunday, however, further control was impossible and the flow continued as if there were no dams on the river.

VILLAGE CLEAR

Campbell River village itself is free of flooding. Most of the trouble is at Campbellton where residents place part of the blame on the new Duncan Bay highway bridge that is 23 feet narrower between buttresses than the old span.

Water is within four feet of the road surface on the bridge, and within two feet of the Quinsam River Bridge.

About three feet of water covers the road at Campbellton, but residents expect to see the swollen river subside by tonight.

Although the Courtenay River covered low-lying areas along its banks on the week-end, including the highway north from Courtenay and the Lewis Park playing field, cessation of the rain brought almost instant relief.

Witnesses said today that the river had dropped at least five feet below its peak, and that highway traffic has been resumed. Some water remains in depressions, they said, but the hazaard has passed.

Photographic Salon

A big attraction here this week is the 13th Victoria International Salon of Photography which was opened at the Empress Hotel Sunday by E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and industry.

The exhibition, the largest of its kind in Canada, is open to the public throughout the week.

Although parents of Carol and David Hames, in stern of boat, were alarmed at having backyard of their Sandwick home full of Courtenay River on the week-end, children thought it was wonderful. Oarsman is Ronnie Park. (Photo by R. A. Thomson.)

Holker Denies Claim Of Socreds' 'Ouster'

Ex-Oak Bay Official Maintains He's No Political Fence-Jumper

Lou Holker, former Oak Bay Social Credit official who quit the party Saturday, today denied a claim by Whitworth Stanbury, association president, that he was "not even a member of the Social Credit League."

"Mr. Stanbury, like most Social Credit officials, has little knowledge of the people who make up the organization," said Mr. Holker.

Mr. Stanbury was reported to have said: "Mr. Holker is not only not a president of Social Credit group No. 7 which he claims, but to the best of my knowledge is not even a member of the Social Credit League.

"Mr. Holker was recommended by the Oak Bay Social Credit group for expulsion some months ago, and to the best of our knowledge has in recent months been working in collaboration with some other political organization."

Replied Mr. Holker: "Perhaps if Mr. Stanbury had checked his own records he would find that when the Zone 7 president ceased to be in office, the vice-president, who was myself, was acting president . . . also, he would find that the recommendation to expel me on the civil servant issue was turned down by the board."

Mr. Holker said he has not been notified of any reversal of the board's decision.

He said he intended to resign over the treatment of two suspended civil servants "but was influenced not to by Speaker Tom Irwin."

Mr. Holker, referring to the charge that he was working for another political party, said this was untrue and "I do not intend to be a fence jumper."

"I have no intention of joining any political party in the near future," he said.

Whitfield Sure Entry In School Board Race

Harold Whitfeild, 1239 Fairfield Road, is considered a certainty to run for one of the two Victoria seats open this year on Greater Victoria School Board.

Mr. Whitfield, a federal civil servant, was unsuccessful in his initial try for a school board seat.

Ken Leeming, who now holds the other open city seat, has announced his intention to seek re-election.

Third Man Succumbs To Crash Injuries

L. B. Jones Five Days Unconscious; Week-End Casualties Total Eight

Death toll on Victoria and district roads rose to 17 today with the death of Lester B. Jones, third man to die as a result of a collision on the Goldstream Hill, Island Highway, last Tuesday.

Mr. Jones, back seat passenger in a light car crushed in collision with a trailer-truck, had not regained consciousness from the time of the crash.

Two front seat occupants, Donald J. Johnston, 34, of 810 Metchosin, the driver, and Stanley J. Cross, 46, of 132 Dallas, were killed instantly.

Mr. Jones, 59, lived at 2571 Blackwood. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 12.30 a.m. today.

WEEK-END VICTIMS

Eight persons were injured over the week-end in the Victoria area.

An extraordinary feature of two accidents was that they occurred at exactly the spot of fatal collisions of the week previous.

Five persons suffered minor injuries in a collision on the Goldstream Hill at 11.30 p.m. Saturday at the identical location where the Johnston car crashed into a trailer last Tuesday, bringing death to the three listed above.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Soderquist, 1515 Quadra, were treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. A. N. Witwicki, of Royal Roads, whose husband also was treated, is still in hospital today. Another passenger, according to RCMP information, was W. H. McAmmond, RCAF, Comox. It is not clear whether he was in the Witwicki car.

Philip Fort, of Nanaimo, is reported to have been the driver of the second car involved. He is still in hospital.

A man named Colin T. Bottoms, RCMP officers state, is in St. Joseph's with minor injuries. He, too, was a passenger, they believe, in either the Witwicki or Fort car.

Police were pressing investigations, attempting to sort out detail of who was in which car. "There seems to be some confusion," they said.

SECOND COINCIDENCE

At the spot where Ignatius Pelkey, East Saanich Indian, was killed when flung from a car last week, a vehicle driven by Paul Slizak, Sidney, overturned on the Patricia Bay Highway Saturday.

He was not seriously hurt.

George Stokes, 211 Cook, escaped with a bruised knee when struck by a car driven by E. J. Bourdages, 171 Alderley, at 12.15 Sunday at Fort and Blanshard.

Harry Brown, aged six, suffered minor head cuts when he was bumped by a car driven by John S. Taylor, 948 Atal, at 3.30 p.m. on Interurban Road, Saanich police reported.

City police reported a number of other accidents during the week-end, damage ranging from medium to slight.

UNCONSCIOUS over five days after being injured in Goldstream Hill accident in which two men died instantly last Tuesday, Lester Jones died in hospital here today.

Laing Charges Socred Taxes Up $23,000,000

Reduction Claims Held Misleading

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing today accused Finance Minister Einar Gunderson of boasting about "puny" tax reductions of $3,000,000 while purposely ignoring about $23,000,000 in new taxation imposed by the Socreds at the last session of the Legislature.

"Mr. Gunderson apparently is basing his by-election campaign on tax reductions. How funny can he get? He's withdrawn a mouse and loaded us with an elephant," said Mr. Laing.

The government is claiming nearly $3,000,000 in tax reductions by the 10 per cent cut in car licenses $350,000); increased exemption on the sales tax on meals ($500,000), and reduced hospital insurance premiums ($2,000,000).

Mr. Laing said the Socreds are talking loud about these reductions in an effort to hide the fact they piled on crippling new taxes at the recent session.

The new 10 per cent tax on drinks by the glass, he said, will bring in about $5,000,000 in new revenue.

The 10 per cent tax on logging and mining company profits, and the 1 per cent tax on timber licenses, will bring in another $5,000,000.

The equalization of assessment plan, which calls for mandatory 75 per cent assessment on improvements for school purposes, will result in $10,000,000 of new taxation, according to a UBCM estimate, Mr. Laing said.

Placing the industrial machinery in municipalities on the assessment rolls (for school purposes only) will bring in another $3,000,000, according to a Canadian Manufacturers' Association estimate, he said.

CANNIBALS TAUGHT GOSPEL

How Many Arrows Has God? Missionary Needed Answer

A 51-year-old missionary who had the difficult job of explaining to Amazon forest cannibals what God looks like, and how many arrows he has, is addressing congregations here at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church Monday through Friday for the next two weeks.

Harold Wildish, evangelist for the Christian Missions in Many Lands, worked in the upper reaches of the Amazon from 1925 to 1935, and now operates from Jamaica. He is on a two-month speaking tour of Canada.

Tonight at 8 p.m. he speaks on "Life Among the Savages."

His decade with the natives was spent 2,000 miles up the Amazon, mostly with the Tupi tribe, flesh eaters which digests enemies killed in battle.

"They war with other tribes once or twice a year," he said, "with the object of stealing women and killing men."

However, he said, a steady change was growing in the tribe, and that while he was there "a portion of the tribe became genuine in their new faith."

When he and his two companions — a Scotsman and an Irishman — first contacted the natives, it was the natives' first view of white men.

"We helped them in any way we could, tooth pulling and general medical work. Yes, we became popular. It took the witch doctor three weeks to extract a tooth. We did it in three minutes."

Both Protestant and Roman Catholic missionaries in the jungles 'work side by side for the same overall objectives."

Theft Strategy Fails To Foil Shop Guardian

Leon Notte, about 30, chose a snappy grey $55 topcoat from a rack, draped it over his arm and walked out of a city department store Saturday.

Apprehended by a store detective, he appeared in city police court today.

Magistrate H. C. Hall accepted a plea of guilty and remanded Notte to Thursday for sentence.

Notte was jailed for a year in 1950 for auto theft and was convicted two months ago for theft under value of $25, court was told.

Saanich Indian Traffic Death Was Accident

A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Ignatius Pelkey, 38, an East Saanich Indian, who died last Wednesday of injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding went out of control on the East Saanich Road.

The accident occurred near the Pat Bay airport about 4 a.m. Pelkey was thrown from a car driven by Ralph Jackson, Metchosin, and died two hours after the mishap from a ruptured stomach and shock.

The jurymen took an hour to arrive at a verdict. They asked Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart to re-examine the driver of the car, and Frank Smith, of Victoria, a passenger in the car, before arriving at a decision.

Jackson said he was not traveling more than 45 miles an hour when he lost control of his car just before coming to a curve on the East Saanich Road. He said he was driving Pelkey and Smith to their homes in Sidney.

Constable J. Luster, who was called to the scene of the accident, said in his opinion that the car was going fairly fast. He said the skid marks made by the car measured about 203 feet.

Juveniles' Arrest May Solve Thefts Of Milkmen's Cash

A wave of petty thefts of cash from city milk bottles may be halted following police seizure of three juveniles at 5 a.m. today.

Following a report from B.C. Electric employee Vic Smith, the three youths were picked up by police at Hillside and Shakespeare.

The two 17-year-olds and one 13-year-old boy had about $12 on their persons.

Subsequent investigation located a lady's purse in a vacant lot. Taken from 1128 Empress and owned by Barbara Clare, it had contained $6.54 and a cheque for $27.55.

The cheque had been burned and the other contents hidden in a drain pipe at Bay and Cook Streets.

Saanich police have been notified as it is suspected the night-prowling trio had also been busy in that area.

Commissioner to Seek Civic Seat

Police commissioner Gordon Carter announced today he will be a candidate for alderman in the Dec. 10 civic election.

Mr. Carter, a partner in Individual Dry Cleaners, was elected to the police commission last year for a two-year term.

He said he intended to fulfull his term on the commission, and noted there had been many past occasions when a man had served simultaneously as alderman and police commissioner.

Mr. Carter served with the navy during the Second World War. He lives at 1216 Oxford Street.

BIOGRAPHIES OF LEGISLATIVE ASPIRANTS IN BRIEF

Five in Field for City By-Election Fight as Nominations Close

Biographical sketches of the five candidates in the provincial by-election here Nov. 24 are presented with the closing of nominations today.

Win or lose, in the November 24 Victoria by-election, CCF candidate Alfred Matthews will go into training in hopes of making the Canadian cycling team for the British Empire Games in Vancouver next year.

Mr. Matthews, at 21, is one of the youngest candidates ever to contest a B.C. election. He's a native Victorian.

A tall, lean youth, he has been a member of the Victoria Cycling Club since its revival in 1947, and treasurer since 1950.

Mr. Matthews was the club's "best-all-rounder" in 1949, 1950 and 1951. He has held club records for one-quarter, one, five and 25-mile distances, and still holds the record for the one-quarter and one mile.

Mr. Matthews is parts manager of a local wholesale firm selling industrial engines.

He was educated at local schools, and on Salt Spring Island. He's now taking a correspondence course in business management from Lasalle University.

His father was lost at sea in the sinking of the tug George McGregor in 1950 when all hands but one drowned. The tug sank off Trial Island.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Pregressive Party candidate in the by-election, became interested in the labor movement during the "hungry thirties" in Winnipeg.

She has made other bids for public office on the civic and provincial levels, but so far has been unable to win.

But this hasn't dampened her enthusiasm.

She is the wife of a laid-off shipyard worker, and has a son in the last year of high school. For these reasons, she says, she wants legislative action to prevent lay-offs and depressions.

Born in Essex, England, she came to Canada at the age of 20. She has lived in Winnipeg and Prince Rupert as well as Victoria.

In Winnipeg, she took an active part in the Women's Federation of Unemployed. Since coming to B.C. she has been active in consumer organizations and the labor movement.

Mrs. Blakey is Victoria organizer for the Labor Progressive (Communist) Party and a charter member.

★ ★ ★

Social Credit Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, who is seeking election in the third riding in a year, is a man who faced the task of preparing B.C.'s multi-million-dollar budgets without fear.

He's worked with figures most of his 54 years, and he heads a firm of chartered accountants with offices in Victoria and Vancouver.

Born in North Dakota, he came to Canada as a boy, living in Saskatchewan where he attended school and university. In 1928, he joined the audit department of the Alberta government, and in 1930 was named secretary and chief accountant of the new department of lands and mines.

The Gundersons have three children. One son, 24, served in Korea and was wounded in action.

In Vancouver, where head offices of his firm are situated, Mr. Gunderson was active in public affairs. He was chairman of the Board of Trade taxation committee, and held the same position with the Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C. He is a member of the Shaughnessy Golf Club, Canadian Club and Vancouver Club.

Mr. Gunderson is hoping November 24 is his lucky day. On that date he was elected in Similkameen in 1952. He was defeated in Oak Bay last June.

★ ★ ★

Liberal candidate George F. Gregory hopes to become "Mighty Mite II" in his party.

He hopes to duplicate the accomplishment of P. A. Gibbs, Oak Bay MLA, who won out over Finance Minister Gunderson in June.

The minister is now running in Victoria, and Mr. Gregory admits he has set himself a big task.

Mr. Gregory, 37, is the son of the late Mr. Justice F. B. Gregory. He is married and has two children.

He is the only lawyer in the campaign.

The candidate is a native of Victoria and is taking his first plunge into the political arena.

Mr. Gregory was educated in Victoria schools, Victoria College, University of B.C., where he received a BA, and Harvard Law School where he got his LL.B.

He was four years with the Royal Canadian Navy as an officer, serving in corvettes in the West Atlantic and on mid-ocean convoy duty.

The candidate was wounded in the torpedoing of HMCS Charlottetown, and won the Distinguished Service Cross in a battle with an enemy U-boat.

Mr. Gregory is past secretary of Victoria Branch, Navy League of Canada, Chamber of Commerce and Community Chest director, past president of the Victoria Gyro Club, honorary solicitor for the Protestant Orphanage. He is a member of the Oak Bay Council.

★ ★ ★

Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election is Tory Leader Deane Finlayson, a 33-year-old, strapping figure who calls Nanaimo his home and spent the Second World War flying for the RCAF.

He's making his third bid for public office. He failed in Oak Bay in the provincial election this summer, and in Nanaimo in the federal election.

But the young leader, an insurance man by trade, has broad shoulders and is in the fight again.

He thrives on activity and has been a leader since his youth. He was instrumental in organizing the Up-Island Tourist Association, and was the group's first president.

He organized the Vancouver Island Branch of the B.C. Insurance Agents' Association, and has held high offices in that group.

He is a former president of the big Nanaimo branch of the Canadian Legion. He was the first president of the Vancouver Island Junior Chamber of Commerce.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Warning! Don't Read This If You've Christmas Jitters!

By PENNY SAVER

Much as I hate to say this, folks, Christmas is coming! Don't get me wrong, now, I love Christmas Day every bit as much as I did in those days when I expected to find a curly-headed doll beneath the tree. It's the days leading up to Christmas that frighten me . . . there aren't enough of them!

Seems like every store in Victoria is sympathetic towards our festive season sorrows and they're all doing everything possible to "make Christmas shopping a pleasure."

Ha!

Whether or not it's a pleasure depends upon the individual, I guess . . . at least there's no lack of gift suggestions.

Just go into the cosmetic department of any store, and you'll see what I mean! Why, I couldn't even buy a tube of my favorite lipstick, yesterday, without getting it in a fancy box, all done up with snow and a plastic reindeer, complete with bells! I was disappointed that he didn't have a red nose and I would have made a fuss about it, only they didn't charge me any extra for the decorations, so I couldn't very well. Some red nail polish did the trick, though, so now I'm happy.

★ ★ ★

The most popular cosmetic manufacturers seem to be vieing with each other for the most original Christmas containers for lipsticks, perfumes, hand lotions and soaps. Get a bottle of cologne in a miniature sleigh pulled by reindeer, soap in a sparkling white snowball, lipsticks in forms of candy canes or snowmen . . . oh, I could go on and on! And you don't pay a cent extra for the novelties.

★ ★ ★

Slip a boxful of pink or blue powder puffs in with your cosmetic gift suggestion. It's a welcome addition for which you pay just 49 cents. Puffs are compact size and have dainty designs scattered over them.

★ ★ ★

Now, a girl's best friend . . . her dolly . . . can have real leather moccasins with lamb's wool trimming! In two colors, red and blue, they cost 49 cents a pair. Mothers making Christmas wardrobes for dolls will welcome this original addition to lounging ensembles.

Advice of Intimates Apt To Be Too Subjective

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Looking at another's problem is often unfair to the person if you are too close to be objective. That is why this widow should disregard her son's comments. She writes:

Hurlock

(Q.) "I am a widow with a married son. Recently I met a widower 20 years older than I who has fallen deeply in love with me and has asked me to marry him. I am not in love with this man but I am lonely and security does mean something as one grows older.

"Recently my son said, 'Mother, I do not wish to influence you either way in your decision about this man. You are not an old lady by any means, but this seems to me like Custer's last stand.'

"Of course I shall always be welcome to live with my son and his family, who are all very wonderful to me. However, I prefer my independence until the last bell rings. My friends urge me to marry but I should like your opinion."

(A.) My opinion is much the same as your friends' opinions. Marry this man unless, of course, you really are not fond of him. You cannot, in middle age, expect to fall in love as you did when you were younger. If you are waiting for that, I am afraid you will wait until doomsday.

Your son was unkind and thoughtless to make the remark he did about the man who asked you to marry him. Surely you must have fondness and respect for this man or you would never have seen enough of him to have him fall in love with you and ask you to marry him.

Under such conditions, your son's remark was uncalled for. At his age, he may not realize how lonely widowhood is and how terrifying it can be to a woman to realize that she lacks security at the time in life when security is important to her.

Had he stopped to think of the matter from your position, rather than from his, he would have realized than an offer of marriage from a person who is deeply in love with you should not be treated as a joke. Don't let him influence you in making your decision about what to do in this matter.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Memories of Japan!

The story of Mrs. Diane Tokuhiro, a Japanese interpreter at an American school in Tokyo has all the earmarks of an exciting adventure novel.

She was born in Tokyo. Her father was a professor at the University of Tokyo and her mother taught English in Japan Women's College before she married . . . in the days when it was an extreme novelty for a Japanese woman to attain higher education.

Bessie

When Diane was a small girl her father was loaned to the Korean government to assist with a huge experimental reforestration scheme and the family moved to North Korea.

But Diane was sent back to Tokyo to go to school and then to Tsuda Ladies' College. When her education was completed . . . a marriage was arranged for her . . . "with a relative" . . . as she tells you quietly.

Her husband went into business in North Korea and their three sons were born there. Her father died and the mother returned to Tokyo to live with another sister . . . Her husband died on a business trip to Japan. . . . And while Diane was completing arrangements for someone to take over the business . . . war caught her . . . and she and her sons were interned in North forea.

Somehow she escaped . . . by paying "much money" . . . as she tells you . . . to the guards. And, traveling slowly . . . through the bushes and along the ditches by night . . . and hiding under the floor boards of small shacks during the day . . . with friendly Koreans sitting above them on their mats . . . she and her sons finally reached the southern coast. Sometimes soldiers came in to make a general search when they were crouching in the dark under the floor.

From Korea to Japan in Fish Boat

It took a long time . . . days . . . perhaps months, Diane says, for she lost track of the hours . . . to find a fisherman who would risk bringing the little family across to Japan.

"I gave him the last of the money from my husband's business," Diane told me quietly, "and we had no money and no food when we reached Japan."

Again she and her boys walked over the mountains and across the valleys until they reached Tokyo. But now they were among friends and kindly farmers helped them with food and lodgings.

"We were thin and dirty when we got to my mother's home," this little Japanese woman remembers, "bare-footed, too. And with no clothes and no money!"

The American occupation had started in Japan. And Diane could speak good English. Interpreters were needed. So she borrowed the money to buy a navy blue skirt, shoes and stockings, a clean white blouse and a sweater. And went to work for the American occupation forces. A year ago, she took her present position with the American School.

She and her sons are still living in Tokyo. In their home there is no running water and only a small gas plate for warmth. Clothes are washed in cold water in summer and just lukewarm water in winter, "for gas is very expensive for heating water."

Somehow the clothes come out of that wash white as snow. "Because we use lots of soap," Diane says.

The rent is very high. So Diane does tutoring after hours to help make ends meet. Her salary is 40 thousand yen a month (about $120) and it takes all she makes, from salary and tutoring. She has a little maid come in three days a week to help at 2,500 yen a month (about $7).

Sending her second boy to junior high school costs her 500 yen a month ($1.25) and he must also have good food and time to study at home for he wishes to enter Tokyo University in two years and the higher his marks in high school, the better chance he will have when his name comes up for university entrance examinations.

Works to Educate Sons

"The 'small boy,' as Diane calls her youngest son, costs her 600 yen at the secondary school. ($1.50 in our money). This includes lunch each day . . . but she tells you with a quick wrinkling of her nose . . . "it is a small lunch, a roll and jam, not much more. So he is always hungry when he comes home."

Because there was no money when the little family got back to Tokyo, the oldest boy could not go on to school and he was apprenticed to a knitted goods company on wholesale row.

It is a 10-year apprenticeship. He starts at a very small salary, only a few yen. . . . He lives in the wholesale house, washes clothes for the other, cleans their rooms, the building. Runs errands. Gradually he advances as he learns and at the end of 10 years, he may open up his own business.

"He will be a merchant," Diane says with a note of pride in her soft voice.

She wishes all three sons to speak good English. But finds "they do not learn well from their mother." And so, she is doing an extra tutoring job on Sundays at present, to be able, in turn, to pay tutors to teach her sons.

It was Diane Tokuhiro who showed me much of Tokyo. "The best and the worst" . . . as she said.

She loves Tokyo . . . the auto horns in all keys and degrees of loudness . . . the fishmarket . . . the auctions on the Nakamaisa where the poor people buy, and the country folk find their pleasure. The sounds of the Geta tap . . . tapping . . . on the streets and the crickets shrilling their songs on the crevices of the tiny wooden shops.

She loves Tokyo . . . but at the same time she wanted me to tell her of Canada. . . . And she sighs and says, "I wish so hard to see America someday!"

Then she giggles . . . as only a Japanese woman can . . . and adds, "Sometimes I wish to be a boy . . . many girls in Japan have wished that. For in Japan . . . a boy's dreams always come true. . . . But a girl has to work so hard for the things she wants!"

Members of the board were in favor of contributing toward the new home management house of the home economics department at University of British Columbia.

She was again appointed convener of these exhibits.

Marjorie Cooper Bride In Late Fall Nuptials

A gown of exquisite lace over satin and net was worn by charming Marjorie Beatrice Cooper Saturday evening when she entered St. John's Anglican Church to become the bride of Jacob Michael Sotkowy. Iridescent sequins outlined the net yoke of the bodice and accordion-pleated lace edged the full, apron-like lace overskirt. A coronet fashioned of tiny seed pearls and rhinestones held her filmy veil, slightly en train, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and pink rapture roses. She wore a strand of pearls with matching earrings.

White and pink chrysanthemums decorated the church for the double-ring ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Cooper, 475 Walter Avenue, and the son of Mr. Walter Sotkowy, Summerberry, Sask. Canon George Biddle officiated. During the signing of the register "O Perfect Love" was sung by Mrs. Iris Paver. Frederick Chubb provided organ music.

The bride's cousin, George Bennett, gave her in marriage.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Theresa Armstrong chose a pink gown with brocade bodice and double-tier net skirt. She wore a brocade jacket and carried a bouquet of mauve spray chrysanthemums and pink carnations in colonial style and wore in her hair a matching floral bandeau.

Similarly gowned in aqua were bridesmatron and bridesmaid, Mrs. Eileen Johnstone and Miss Addaline Sotkowy, the groom's sister from Regina. They carried colonial bouquets of pale pink chrysanthemums and carnations.

The bride's little godchild, Miss Carla Armstrong, wore a pale yellow frock and carried a basket of bronze spray chrysanthemums and yellow carnations.

Wearing a gown of French blue crepe and net with purple velvet hat and corsage of pink rapture roses, the bride's mother received guests at the Olde England Inn following the ceremony. Harry Dodds proposed the toast. The three-tier wedding cake, embedded in tulle and flanked by silver candelabra, was topped with miniature wedding bells.

The happy newlyweds are now motoring on honeymoon in the United States. For traveling, the bride chose a corded worsted suit of Dundee Blue with pearl and bead trim, navy accessories and gardenia corsage. They will return to live in Victoria.

Heirloom Diamond Necklace Worn By Bride in Cathedral Ceremony

An heirloom diamond necklace was "something old" for Mary Joy McCormack, daughter of Mrs. Carson McCormack, Foul Bay Road, and the late Col. McCormack, OBE, ED, when she became the bride of Robert Walter Ketterer, son of Mrs. Louis Ketterer, Unity, Sask., and the late Mr. Ketterer, in an early evening service at St. Andrew's Cathedral on Saturday.

Father M. O'Connell performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. H. M. Sherratt sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register, and organ music was played by Miss M. McKay.

The dark-haired bride was escorted to the altar by Capt. H. E. Hubbard. Cream floral lace posed over satin fashioned her exquisite gown which featured a fitted bodice, wide neckline and full skirt, which swept into a semi-train. Her fingertip illusion veil cascaded from a fitted cap of lace over satin and she carried mauve orchids intermingled with heather in her crescent-shaped bouquet.

As maid of honor, Miss Beth Follmer chose a mauve gown accented by a cascading bouquet of mauve-wine chrysanthemums. Bridesmatrons were Mrs. W. Taylor, wearing gold with cascade bouquet of bridesmaid chrysanthemums, and Mrs. C. A. Wright, wearing orchid with cascade bouquet of salmon-leda chrysanthemums. All attendants wore braided coronets to match their gowns.

Best man was Frederick Gladstone. Ushers were Robert H. Sherratt and John E. Hubbard.

Mrs. Carson McCormack, mother of the bride, assisted in receiving guests at a reception held in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel. She wore a full length gown of midnight blue taffeta, cerise velvet hat and corsage of gardenias and carnations.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake set in palest mauve tulle sprinkled with pink rosebuds and flanked by silver candelabra. Silver vases of pink roses were an added table decoration. Capt. Hubbard proposed the toast to the bride.

After a honeymoon in Portland, the couple will return to live in Victoria. For traveling, the bride donned a dress of mauve wool jersey with matching feather hat and black suede accessories. She wore a grey Chinese kid jacket with a mauve orchid corsage.

Italian Directs St. Andrew's Stage Offering

Stefano Novini to Guide Drama Club

The Drama Club of St. Andrew's Cathedral has announced it is expanding its amateur theatre production from one act to the three-act field. At present in rehearsal is the successful New York and London comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean," to be presented at St. Anne's Academy auditorium on Dec. 3, 4 and 5.

Director of the play is Stefano Novini, formerly of Italy and a four year graduate of the Italian Centre of Theatrical Arts. Before coming to Canada two and one-half years ago, Mr. Novini toured Italy for three years with the Carlo Goldoni Company, a professional troupe, which in addition to Goldoni's plays, produced many plays popular in English theatre. "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "Watch on the Rhine," in Italian, were among the plays in which Mr. Novini appeared.

Noel Coward's Merry Comedy 'Present Laughter' at Totem

One of Noel Coward's merriest works, "Present Laughter," moves into Totem Theatre tonight.

It follows a successful, two-week run of the U.S. comedy, "The Moon Is Blue."

"Present Laughter" is the story of actor Garry Essendine and the people with whom he associates when he's not on stage.

Sam Payne will take the leading role. Other headliners in the large cast are Daphne Goldrick, Rosemary Malkin, Thor Arngrim, Murial Ontkean and Norma Macmillan. Two local actors, Dorothy House and Rolly LeBerge, will appear in the play as well.

The play will be given each night at 8.30 with a matinee performance at 2.30 Saturday.

Gruesome Photo May Solve Crime

MONTREAL (BUP) — Police mailed pictures of a reconstructed head to law enforcement officers throughout Canada and the United States today in an international bid to solve a torso slaying that has baffled detectives here since Oct. 28.

City homicide squad Capt. Henri Bond said he hoped the photograph of the head, mutilated when it was found last week in a country ditch and since reconstructed by an embalmer, would provide the first clue in the mysterious slaying of a man believed to be about 50.

"Other than the head, the feet which were found some weeks ago and the torso which was found in an east-end Montreal lane last month, we haven't got a thing to go on," Bond said. "We're more or less back where we started when the torso was found wrapped in a blanket and a canvas sheet."

What first was believed to be a hand belonging to the unidentified victim who was shot through the heart from behind was found in an automobile Sunday near Repentigny, Que. But a policeman who rushed to the area found the "hand" was an animal's paw.

105 FAMILIES GIVEN PARCELS OF FREE FOOD

Latecomers cleaned out the Free Food Stall Saturday. Food parcels were given to 105 families.

Stall operator, Mrs. Barbara Green, said gifts of $32.50 cash had purchased 15 dozen eggs, 20 pounds of cheese, bacon, hamburger, cold meats, liver and powdered milk.

Wholesalers and private donors provided 10 sacks of potatoes, 10 sacks of cauliflower and quantities of turnips, carrots, parsnips, cabbage, tomatoes, grapes, marrows, peppers, sprouts, broccoli, leeks and squash.

A pledge of $50 has already been received toward Christmas stall day, Dec. 19. Next stall day is Nov. 28.

Oil Workers To Vote on Strike Issue

VANCOUVER (CP) — Some 200 members of the Oil Workers' International Union (CIO) employed by the Shell Oil Company at Vancouver will mark ballots Wednesday in a government-supervised strike vote. The vote was granted after the company rejected a conciliation board majority award recommending a 5½-per-cent wage increase.

A second unit of the Oil Workers' Union comprising 80 workers at the Standard Oil's Stanovan Refinery in Vancouver have also applied for a strike vote following a breakdown of wage negotiations. A conciliation board majority report recommended a three-cent-an-hour increase.

A conciliation board has ended hearings between the union and British American Oil Company but has not yet released a report. A conciliation officer has been requested by the union's Imperial and Home Oil locals.

British Peer Says He Is Innocent Of Indecent Act

LYMINGTON, England (AP) —Lord Montagu of Beaulieu today was committed for trial before a jury on a charge of committing a serious offense against a 14-year-old Boy Scout.

A defense submission that the prosecution failed to make out a case was overruled at the preliminary hearing Saturday. Montagu, 27-year-old third baron, will appear at the next Winchester assizes at an unspecified date.

He remained free on bail of £500.

Through his attorney, Montagu told the magistrate: "I declare my innocence as I have done from the first."

CIO-AFL Peace Pact Backed by Walter Reuther

CLEVELAND (UP) — The 15th CIO constitutional convention opened today with delegates set to approve a peace pact with the rival AFL as the first step toward merging the two giant labor organizations.

CIO president Walter P. Reuther called for an "overwhelming" vote in favor of an AFL-CIO agreement not to conduct membership raids on each other's unions. The 700 delegates attending the convention at the Cleveland auditorium were expected to comply with the request.

UBC Professor Starts Long Voyage to Study Magnetism

HAMBLE, Hampshire, Eng. (CP)—Dr. Bohdan Medusa Cwilong, former associate professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, sailed today on a projected seven-year voyage to add to the world's knowledge about terrestrial magnetism.

Dr. Cwiling, versatile 44-year-old scientist with a flair for chess, plays in blank verse and research into artificial rainfall, was scheduled to leave last month, but weather or engine trouble delayed his departure.

Dr. Cwilong and six crew members, including his English wife Marie, sailed for Portugal, Medeira and the Bahamas in the yawl Princess Waimai. If present plans are followed, they will be in Vancouver in about a year to pick up a second boat, the 34-foot demagnetized yawl Non-Magnetic III

The projected expedition calls for Dr. Cwilong and his party to spend seven years finding out whey the earth is magnetic.

House Leaders of Four Parties Make First Formal Speeches Today

By JAMES R. NELSON

OTTAWA (BUP)—Leaders of the four parties in the House of Commons will make their first formal speeches today as the ceremony connected with Parliament's opening gives way to legislative routine.

Progressive Conservative Leader George Grew was to lead off debate on the government's legislative program and the state of the nation. He will be followed by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Solon Low.

A few tune-up talks had put their vocal cords in trim after the long post-election layoff, as well as giving a good indication of what the main opposition talking points would be in the early stages of the first session of the 22nd Parliament.

Drew was expected to deal with such diverse topics as markets for western wheat, trade, housing, defense, taxation, Communism and natural resources, before winding up with a motion of non-confidence in the government.

The speech, if not the motion, appeared likely to deal with the same things the Conservatives criticized when the last session of the 21st Parliament opened November 20, 1952.

At that time, the want-of-confidence motion attacked excessive taxation, waste and extravagance and the government's alleged failure to try to regain Commonwealth markets.

It also dealt with the question of health insurance and the question of re-allocation of taxing powers between the three levels of government.

ANSWER CRITICS

Mr. St. Laurent was expected to follow Drew with an amplification of some of the government's legislative plans outlined briefly in the Throne speech, and give his answer to any specific criticisms advanced by the opposition leader.

Coldwell and possibly Drew, were expected to plead the case of western wheat farmers who have been unable to deliver some 500,000,000 bushels of grain because country elevators are full.

Coldwell called on the government in a recent speech to give the farmers an advance payment of $1 per bushel for wheat stored on their farms. Government spokesmen had indicated such a payment was unlikely to be made.

Today's sitting will be the first full one of the session. The Commons will meet at 2.30 p.m., rise at 6 for dinner and return at 8 for another two hours.

This will be the schedule until late in the session, when the hours usually are extended to provide morning sittings in order to get through remaining business.

BEVAN BLAMES BRITISH PRESS FOR BRITONS' 'IGNORANCE'

COVENTRY, England (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, 56 Sunday charged the British press is a reason why the British people are "among the most ignorant in the world" and "practically insane."

Bevan, fiery leader of the Labor Party's left wing, told a political rally here the British people are living "in a sort of intellectual twilight."

"One of the causes," he said, "is to be found in British newspapers." He named no other causes.

"They are no longer newspapers. They are power papers, used not for the purpose of communicating news to people, but for indoctrinating ideas and concealing from people things they ought to know."

7,000 Striking Miners Face Cheerless Yule in Ontario

TIMMINS, Ont. (BUP)—A marathon gold mine strike dragging into its 19th week faced 7,000 miners and their families today with the prospect of a cheerless Christmas and so penniless a New Year that schools may close.

Negotiations between the CIO United Steel Workers Union and the big Hollinger mine—the first at any mine since the first strike was called July 11—reconvened today but Union Chief C. H. Millard said the situation was "far from promising."

Millard charged at a meeting of 1,300 union members Sunday night that outside influences had sabotaged the talks and made the company management "mere marionettes manipulated by long-distance strings from Toronto and Montreal."

"The union will enter the talks looking for an honorable settlement, but we can only hope management will be given something reasonable to bring forward," he said.

The only statement issued after Saturday's eight-hour negotiation meeting was "no new developments."

Transporting Doukhobors No Solution Says RCMP

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP says there is little hope that British Columbia's Doukhobor problem will be solved by transporting the fanatical Sons of Freedom to another country.

"Negotiations undertaken with a view of facilitating the emigration of some of the Doukhobors from Canada have so far been fruitless and there now seems to be little hope of reducing the problem in this way," the force says in its annual report.

The report, released today, also warns that "more conservative Doukhobors" in British Columbia may take part in outbreaks of violence in the Nelson-Grand Forks area.

Doukhobors in British Columbia in the 1952-53 fiscal year committed 60 acts of incendiarism or dynamiting, causing damage of more than $300,000, the report says.

Most of the offenses were committed by the Sons of Freedom, the report says, but a few can be blamed on orthodox Doukhobors "in reprisal against damage by the Sons to their own property."

Efforts to transfer the Doukhobors to the Adams Lake area, northeast of Kamloops, continued during the year, "but it now seems doubtful that this plan will come to fruition," the report says. The plan has been bitterly opposed by residents of Kamloops and nearby communities.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Some of my correspondents have asked me for a hand illustrating the Gerber Convention. I give them today's hand, in which I held the South in the recent Individual Tournament in Houston. My partner, Capt. L. A. Welsh, of the U.S. Coast Guard, used the Gerber Convention skillfully and put me in a strange slam contract. It was to play the hand at six spades without a trump in my hand.

Captain Welsh's jump to four clubs was a special slam convention, named after Johnny Gerber of Houston. Such a jump to four clubs does not promise a club suit; it merely asks partner to show how many aces he holds, very much like the Blackwood bid of four no-trump.

In responding to a Gerber bid of four clubs, you show no aces by bidding four diamonds; one ace, by bidding four hearts; two aces, by bidding four spades; and so on. In the hand shown today, for example, I showed two aces by bidding four spades.

Very often, your partner will know from this one response how high he wants to bid. In this case, my partner knew that one ace was missing and that a small slam was the limit of the hand. Even the small slam might have been set from his point of view, because he didn't know that I held the king of clubs, but he was willing to take a chance.

If the response to four clubs shows that the partnership has all four aces, the player who is doing the asking may find out about kings by making the cheapest possible bid. For example, if North had two aces in today's hand, he would know that all four aces were accounted for after South's response of four spades. North would then bid four no-trump, the cheapest bid after four spades. South would be able to show no kings with a bid of five clubs; one king, with five diamonds; and so on.

When today's hand was actually played in the tournament, most tables got to six spades, played from the North position. The opening lead of the queen of clubs defeated them very quickly. At my table, the slam was played from the South position. If West had opened a club, my king would have stopped the suit in time. West actually opened a diamond, and it was a cinch to win the first trick, ruff a low diamond in dummy, draw trumps, and then take the rest.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

Music . . . music . . . music!

Tonight, the CBC Symphony orchestra will perform Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 6 in D Minor. The conductor will be maestro Ettore Mazzoleni.

Also musically speaking . . . earlier in the evening, at 7 o'clock to be precise, opportunity knocks for several young singing stars on John Adaskine's program of the same name. That's on CBC Dominion tonight!

I came upon an interesting story in this week's edition of Time Magazine.

It seems that one Mrs. Leigh Lee, program director of radio station CHUM in Toronto, got well and truly fed up with the disc jockey programs on her station.

She didn't like the delivery, the length, and the frequency of the commercials that her staff used.

So what did the good lady do?

She aimed her guns, and "BANG" . . . she fired them. She offered all nine of the station's "name" disc jockeys jobs as anonymous announcers (at a higher salary) and seven of them quit.

And to top it all off, Mrs. Lee decreed that no radio commercial on the station should last more than one minute.

Brave woman, what?

We'll have more to say about this at a later date.

One more item that should interest radio listeners, or non radio fans for that matter, concerns Ed Farey's Christmas Party Fund.

In an attempt to raise some more money for the youngsters, old Uncle Ed has arranged for a Christmas Party Fund Dance.

The "soiree" will be held this coming Thursday at the Victoria Ballroom, with all proceeds going to the fund.

There will be two orchestras in attendance, both old-time and modern. Sounds like a promising evening.

Come on down and have a good time, and in doing so, help the small fry have a good Christmas.

We'll be there . . . how about you?

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Partner really "lets fly" with loaded comments if you show your impatience at slow action. Talking it out with co-workers helps greatly by clarifying points involved.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Getting your job well done and aiding all in distress should occupy your full time. Permitting yourself to feel abused and sorry for yourself merely weakens you now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Making contacts with friends, attachments, younger persons, those connected with investments, public parks, reveals unsuspected way you can forge ahead more quickly. Compliment helpers, helpmates.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Tact and diplomacy exercised toward those at home and in world of action eases tensions deep within yourself that seem to call for some sharp, sarcastic action, which astrologically is most inadvisable.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—All sorts of ideas are zooming through your consciousness; you must use discrimination to accept the worthwhile ones. Be cagey. Be happy.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)—Desire to spend far more than you can afford, even though the expenditure looks wise, is better delayed till more propitious day. Look to increasing popularity, credit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Apparent inability to get your views, vital to you, across to a dynamic individual, requires that you avoid forcing issue today. Instead, get better perspective from added study.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Plunging into necessary work brings pile of tasks way down and relieves annoyance you'd best let go out of your mind; think up new ways to increase possessions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Desire for fun is fine, but it's also an unusually good day to complete creative work that can bring your particular talents to the attention of those able to help you in that direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Avoid that scrappy attitude that can make you say and do very indiscrete things. Protect your reputation against scandalmongers by being, like Caesar's wife, above reproach!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—If you're in tune with the planets you are busily engaged in completing all routines so you can have time for very worthwhile conditions, persons who can enrich your existence.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Others expect a great deal from you in any joint undertakings, so you'd better pitch in and make as much money as possible. Get all your material affairs in perfect condition today.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those very alive and alert youngsters who will constantly want new toys, new modes of expression, so it is wise for you early to take the bull by the horns. Get construction sets and all those things which can form the habit of intense interest for a considerable period of time in one line of expression. A great amount of talent is present in the chart to help others in distress as well as to make a success of any vocation requiring the unravelling of snarled conditions, personnel and rigorous research.

Abominable Snowman Captured, Sherpas Claim

BOMBAY, India (UP) — A prominent Indian mountaineer said today one of the "abominable snowmen" of the high Himalayas was being held captive in Tibet.

Stories of the "snowmen," who are said to live high in the snowy wastes of the upper Himalayan mountain peaks, have intrigued the world for years. But nobody has ever seen or proved one existed.

However, Paranavnit Parekh, the mountaineer, returned here after a two-month visit to the Mount Everest region and said several natives had told him a "snowman" was being held in Tibet.

Parekh reported that several Sherpas — Tibetan people who live on the high southern slopes of the Himalayas—told him the "snowman" was captured alive and is being kept in the zoo at Shigatse, in Tibet.

Kiernan Milk Policy Brings Hot Protest

Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association plans a vigorous protest against what it called "kite flying" by Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan at its annual meeting Friday in Duncan.

"We object strenuosly to our annual meeting being used by the minister to make statements regarding his opinion on the milk situation," Henry G. Robinson, VIDA secretary-manager, said tod in Nanaimo.

"We are bitterly disappointed with his attitude," he said. "We are not going to give way one inch on our stand on milk quotas."

The minister had spoken in favor of the quota system that will give mainland milk producers a permanent share of the Vancouver Island market, and said "open competition could be arranged" if the VIDA members so desired.

"Being our guest at the meeting, he found us in the position where we could not answer back," Mr. Robinson said.

Mr. Robinson said the dairymen will meet in Nanaimo tonight to plan the form of their protest against the quota system and the minister's action.

VHS Students Named To Thespian Group; Second in Canada

At Victoria High School today eight students were installed by T. W. Mayne, director of the drama club, into the National Thespian Society, as Troupe 560.

The society has organized more than 1,200 troupes in high schools all over the United States, but this is only the second to be formed in Canada and the only one in the west, the other being in Montreal. A high standard is set by the tests which students must pass in order to qualify. Each student must have 10 points and each point represents 10 hours of work in dramatic arts.

Mr. Mayne points out that the society motto—"Act well your part; there all the honor lies"—has a broad connotation for in adding up points hours spent in back-tage work, painting, advertising, ticket-selling, as well as acting, music, dancing and so forth, are equally important.

National Thespian Society's purpose is the fostering of dramatic arts in secondary schools. Charters are granted to qualifying troupes but may be withdrawn if a sufficiently high standard of work is not maintained, thus providing a stimulas for continual co-operative effort.

Record Fraser Salmon Run in 1957 Promised

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The 1957 run of salmon on the Fraser River stands to be one of the largest in history, the Fisheries Association of British Columbia reported today.

The association said that more salmon escaped in the Fraser River watershed in 1953 than in any other year for the four-year cycle since 1913. The association also said that the large escapement came despite the fact that the 1953 catch was the biggest in the cycle since 1917.

Organized Crime Up, RCMP Report Reveals

Famed Force Handles 167,354 Criminal Investigations; Up 13.9 Per Cent in Year

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today organized crime was increasing in Canada and smugglers and counterfeiters were providing police with one of their biggest headaches.

The famed Mounties also noted a trend in which lawbreakers were double-crossing each other by paying for smuggled goods, such as American cigarettes which cost less than Canadian brands, with counterfeit U.S. currency.

The figures and a glimpse at the inside story of organized crime were contained in the RCMP's annual report for the year ended last March 31. It said the federal police force handled 167,354 criminal investigations in that period—20,450 or 13.9 per cent more than in the previous year.

Convictions were obtained in 67.8 per cent or 113,423 cases. Only 1.3 per cent resulted in dismissals and 1,205 cases were awaiting trial at the end of the year, while 8,031 still were under investigation.

There were 46,909 investigations under the Criminal Code, compared to 44,643 in the previous year, the report said. These included 7,873 "principal offenses against the person," which broke down to 34 cases of murder, 22 of attempted murder, 105 of manslaughter, 4,253 of driving while intoxicated or impaired and 3,459 of general assaults.

The number of murder cases was down by six from the previous year, and Prince Edward Island was the only province in which there were none.

The report did not cover Ontario and Quebec, which have their own provincial police forces.

The Mounties reported 17,615 investigations of crimes against property. Cases of robbery with violence dropped from 167 to 147 and there was a sharp slump in cattle rustling cases—from 415 to 226.

Safecrackers jumped from 122 to 190, or 55.7 per cent. The RCMP report said the bulk of these offenses occurred in the four western provinces with more than one-third of the total in Alberta. The number in Saskatchewan jumped to 37 from the previous three.

Church Bells Peal As Charles Is Five

Young Prince Opens Pile of Gaily Wrapped Presents While Grandmother, Anne Look On

LONDON (Reuters)—Church bells pealed all over Britain Saturday as Prince Charles, watched over by his sister and his grandmother, opened a pile of gaily-wrapped presents marking his fifth birthday.

Photographs released to the press by Royal household officials showed the prince dressed in a cream shirt and pale blue shorts with a blue four-in-hand tie held down by a gold clasp. Charles has led the fashions of his age almost since birth, pioneering the bow tie now a favorite with the under fives.

High spot of his day, spent quietly at the Royal lodge in Windsor, 29 miles outside London, was a long distance call from his mother and father. Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are preparing for their forthcoming tour round the world at Sandringham, another Royal home in Norfolk.

While the nation saluted him with the flying of flags and the pealing of bells, the BBC greeted early morning listeners with the national anthem as a tribute to Charles.

He was calm about the absence of his parents and convinced he is having two birthdays this year. Next week Elizabeth and the duke return to Buckingham Palace and he will have another birthday party, including an iced cake with five candles.

Family birthday cards and greetings from his own small circle of young friends were sent on to Windsor Saturday. Among them was a telegram conveying the birthday greetings of the Church of Scotland.

Prince Charles will begin in earnest on his first lessons under his governess now and gradually leave the nursery routine behind. Before him stretch several years of special tuition to fit him for future Royal duties.

POOL ON ROOF? 'WE LIKE IT,' MALLEK SAYS

People won't stop phoning Ed Mallek to tell him he's got water on the roof.

Mr. Mallek, president of Kiwanis Village Building Society, says ever since fall rains began, well-meaning citizens have been advising him that pools of water have gathered on the flat roofs of the housing development.

"These roofs are designed to hold one inch of water," he said. "It's good for the roofing material and by reflecting the sun's rays it prolongs its life.

"Please," he added, "we like it that way honestly."

3 Youths Face Charge After Girl Killed by Train

HAMILTON (BUP) — Three youths were to appear in Dundas court today to face a charge of criminal negligence following the death of 18-year-old Shirley Telfer, who was hit by a train.

Joe Fezzari, 20, a former boy friend of the dead girl; his cousin, a recent immigrant with the same name, and Rocco Papalia, 18, said in statements to their lawyers that the girl jumped from their car and ran into the path of a train early Saturday.

Both Fezzaris were charged in their cells at Dundas Sunday. Papalia was arrested by detectives who went to his home after he had been released on $5,000 bail.

Provincial police charged the three youths with criminal negligence on grounds they failed to take the proper steps to prevent the girl from being killed.

French Farmer Accused of Brutal Murder of English Titled Family

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

DIGNE, France (AP) — A bearded, 76-year-old French farm patriarch, accused by two of his own sons, was formally charged Sunday with the triple slaying 15 months ago of British nutrition expert Sir Jack Drummond, Lady Drummond and their 11-year-old daughter.

Police said the aged man, Gaston Dominici, admitted he killed the holidaying Drummonds early on the morning of Aug. 5, 1952, after Sir Jack, 61, caught him peeping into their roadside camp to watch Lady Ann Drummond undress. The camp was 200 yards from Dominici's stone farm home in southeastern France.

Detective Georges Harzig gave a press conference this version of Dominici's three confessions:

Around midnight, as was Dominici's custom, he was out hunting and he approached the Drummond car. He saw a woman—it was Lady Ann—undressing and he came closer to spy upon her.

The woman saw or heard him and she screamed. This aroused Drummond, who angrily demanded what he was doing there. They began quarreling and exchanged blows. Dominici, enraged, fired first at Sir Jack and then at Lady Ann, killing them both. He also fired at the child Elizabeth, but the bullet only grazed her ear and she ran screaming toward the river to escape. He pursued her. She fell upon her knees and covered her head with her hands. He had no more bullets, so he clubbed her with the rifle butt.

Nominations Closed With Five in Field

Nominations closed for the Victoria Nov. 24 by-election at 1 p.m. today with no surprise candidates.

Returning Officer Alan B. Macfarlane reported only the five candidates submitted nomination papers.

They are Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Social Credit; George F. Gregory, Liberal; Alfred Matthews, CCF; Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson, and Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Progressive Party.

(See page 15 for biographies.)

The by-election was necessitated by the resignation of Socred Percy Wright, who was elected last June. He resigned to allow Mr. Gunderson to contest one of the city seats. The minister was unsuccessful in Oak Bay in June.

The by-election will mark the return to the single choice system of voting after British Columbians had a whirl at the alternative multi-choice system of casting ballots. This system was abolished at the last session of the Legislature.

If Victorians vote the same way on Nov. 24 as they did last June, a Social Credit victory is assured.

Here's how they marked their first choices in that contest:

Socred Wright, 9,032; Liberal Straith, 7,193; CCF-er Campbell, 4,923; Tory Patch, 1,139, and LPP Mortenson 127.

Voting will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in about 30 polling stations, mostly in schools, throughout the city.

Electors should take their "where-to-vote" cards with them to the polls.

Insanity Plea Hinted By Greenlease Slayers

Surprise Development Comes at Trial Opening

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The possibility was raised today that the kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease would seek to escape the gas chamber through an insanity plea.

This surprise development came at the opening of the federal trial being held for the sole purpose of determining whether they should die for the crime they have fully confessed.

Both Carl Austin Hall, the 34-year-old playboy wastrel, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, the housewife turned alcoholic, listened attentively as their lawyers reserved the right to bring up the insanity question at any time during the proceedings.

Their counsel told the court they were not raising the question now but they wished to protect the constitutional rights of the two defendants and if evidence warranted an insanity plea they would make one even after conviction.

HOLD TO PLEAS

The defense lawyers said neither Hall or Mrs. Heady wanted to change their pleas of guilty, entered at their formal arraignment.

Judge Albert Reeves told the panel of 125 men and women that the sole job of the jury—to be chosen from among them—would be to decide whether a death penalty should be assessed. Under provisions of the Lindbergh kidnap law under which Hall and Mrs. Heady are being tried, only a jury has the authority to recommend the death penalty.

At the trial opening, Roy Dietrich, Hall's court-appointed counsel, failed in two efforts to have the panel of veniremen discharged.

He said under the Lindbergh kidnapping law Hall's plea of guilty was final and there was no authority in the law for calling a jury to fix the penalty. He emphasized he wanted to preserve this legal objection in case of a later appeal.

Judge Reeves overruled that point and also turned down Dietrich's argument that the panel should be dismissed because the jurors could not be impartial.

Twenty subpoenas have been served and up to 200 persons are available to testify for the government.

Mrs. Heady admitted luring little Bobby from a private school in Kansas City, Mo. She and Hall took him across the state line into Kansas where he was shot to death in a field September 28. The body was buried in a grave already dug behind Mrs. Heady's house in St. Joseph, Mo.

Six days later the couple obtained a record $600,000 ransom from the boy's father. But within two days the pair was caught. About half the ransom was recovered.

Big Three Turn Down Reds But Churchill Still Hopes

PM Will Suggest New Approach

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today the forthcoming Bermuda Big Three conference will consider how to arrange talks with the Russians.

Churchill told the House of Commons he will study with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel how such talks might be arranged.

"We will study the best methods and actions for making easy and practical talks with them (the Russians), even if we cannot solve all major problems and thus reduce world tension," Churchill said.

His comment was made in opposing a Laborite move in the House to make Britain's two years' selective service law come up for yearly review.

Referring to the Bermuda conference, Churchill said:

"This conference is not in order to weaken our forces or our resolve, but to discuss ways of strengthening them, both morally and materially and, at the same time, where that is not inconsistent, to study ways of reassuring the other half of the world that we mean them no harm and to repudiate all intention of aggressive action."

He then explained the intention of the conference to consider how talks with Russia might be arranged.

"That," he said, "is the sort of thing I hope may develop from our talks."

FISH ENTICE HIROHITO FROM POSSIBLE DEATH

TOKYO (AP)—Bored with a television show, Emperor Hirohito walked out of his sitting room to his laboratory, where he studies marine life as a hobby.

Just 1½ hours later, the massive plaster ceiling of the sitting room collapsed, apparently from dampness. The imperial household today reported the incident, which happened 10 days ago.

Notes Reject Soviet Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The western powers told Russia today that Soviet price for entering into negotiations on German unification and Austrian independence is "totally unacceptable."

Notes were delivered by British, American and French envoys in Moscow to the Soviet foreign office.

They replied to Russian demands put forward in a note of Nov. 3.

In their reply, the western powers said the Russian demands in effect placed non-European problems ahead of even a study of urgent European issues and made "a defenseless western Europe" part of the price for Soviet participation in a conference.

The western powers said "the Soviet government must be well aware" that such demands are totally unacceptable.

Officials said that the American note and virtually identical British and French notes were sent to the foreign office in Moscow.

The western nations have been negotiating with Moscow since last July for a conference on Germany and Austria.

They consider that the note they delivered today probably closes the exchange.

The western powers stated that while the whole affair is over as far as they're concerned, the door to a conference along the lines they previously proposed is still open any time the Kremlin is seriously interested.

Tito Offers Trieste Port To Italians

ROME (AP)—A new offer by Yugoslav president Tito to give Italy the port city of Trieste raised diplomats' expectations here that a five-power conference on the disputed Adriatic territory is imminent.

These circles also felt Italy and Yugoslavia now were agreed on a number of major points relative to the 285 square miles of territory inhabited by 375,000 persons which each nation has claimed.

Speaking in Belgrade Sunday, Tito dramatically waived his claims to the port city and conceded Italy should have it. But he repeated his demand for the rest of Zone A, the territory of farms and vineyards around the city. The city's 300,000 population is largely Italian, the rest of the zone's 25,000 settlers are mostly of Yugoslav-Slovene origin.

Yugoslav control of the rest of Zone A would isolate the port from Italy. Diplomats here believed, however, that Yugoslavia also would concede Italy a corridor linking her with the city.

19 Believed Drowned in Channel Crash

DUNGENESS, Eng. (Reuters)—Rescue craft pulled six survivors and five bodies from debris-strewn waters of the English channel early today, but 14 other crew members of a sunken Italian ore carrier were unaccounted for and feared lost.

The 2,745-ton Vittoria Claudia sank within five minutes of being struck by the French freighter Perou. Many of the crew were hurled into the sea by the impact, while others were believed helplessly trapped below decks.

One of the rescued men died shortly after being picked up. The five others were treated for shock.

Farina Alessanor, cook of the sunken ship, said it went down so fast there was no time to get a lifeboat away.

By noon today hope for the rescue of the 14 men waned, though a large rescue force still combed the collision scene in the straits of Dover. The Perou, reporting "some damage," headed for Le Havre after a fruitless search for survivors.

'No! (Br-r-ak) Certainly Not!'

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP)—North Koreans stoned Red officers today and attempted to attack them with metal chairs at the first Communist "explanation" session in 10 days.

One North Korean caused the interviews to be suspended for one hour and 50 minutes when he blew his nose with an "explanation sheet" signed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Only six of 227 NorthKoreans interviwed chose to go home after long "explanations," some of which lasted more than five hours.

Eisenhowers Home

Cook Said Sane, To Be Released From Oakalla

Robert Winter Cook of Duncan, acquitted last month on a charge of murdering his father in 1949, will be released from Oakalla Prison, probably this week.

His release has been approved by on order-in-council passed by the provincial cabinet.

Cook was acquitted recently when a jury decided he was insane at the time of the killing. But after the trial, he was sent to Oakalla to be held "at the pleasure of the Crown."

The government has decided Cook is sane now.

Cook was at Essondale Mental Hospital from shortly after his arrest until last spring, when he was pronounced fit to stand trial and sent to Oakalla. The trial followed.

Ladysmith Man Among Violent Deaths in B.C.

Violence Responsible For Five Victims

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five violent deaths were recorded in British Columbia during the week-end, all on the lower mainland.

Richard Harris, 21, Ladysmith, was found drowned Sunday in the Fraser River at suburban Richmond.

Maynard McPhee, 66, missing since Oct. 19, was found drowned in English Bay here Sunday. His body was found with a chain and weights attached to the waist. Police said no foul play is suspected.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twelve persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation showed today that traffic deaths, nine of which occurred in Ontario, accounted for the majority of the total of 18 fatalities in the east.

HUNTERS WERE NEVER LOST

Three Island Youths Turn Up At Sooke After Night in Bush

By DOUG FORRESTER
Times Correspondent

Three young Sooke hunters believed lost over the week-end tunred up today hale, hearty and hungry after a night in the bush.

They are Rodney Sullivan, 19, of Sooke; Alan Smith, 19, of Saseenos; and his brother, Dennis Smith, 18, who reported they were "never lost."

Jerry Van Ek and myself joined a search today that was directed by Const. Peter Humphries, RCMP, and drove up Muir Creek.

We met the boys walking out at 9 a.m.

They said each had shot a deer in the area behind the Elder Logging Co. operations, but "packing out" was a slow process and when darkness fell they were forced to stop. They lit a fire, tried to make a meal of cough candies, and waited until daylight before finishing their hike.

They said the rain was drenching and that it hailed and snowed.

The deer are still in the brush, since the boys were anxious to come home quickly today and relieve any anxiety suffered by their parents and friends.

They had gone hunting Sunday morning, and were expected back at noon. When they did not show up a small search was organized Sunday afternoon, and the larger effort got under way today.

'Socialism In Silk Hat' Drew Charges

OTTAWA (BUP)—Opposition Leader George Drew today accused the goverment of practicing "socialism in a silk hat," and said its recent decision to limit air freight competition could mean the end of free competition generally.

Drew, opening the Throne speech debate, attacked the government's wheat marketing policies and the decision to move the National Film Board to Montreal and called for a full explanation of government plans to deal with the unprecedented surplus of Prairie wheat.

Carig didn't go so far as to give Robin Hood a clean bill of health, merely remarking that "it's been a long time since anybody read Robin Hood to me."

'ECONOMIC ISOLATIONISM' CHARGE AGAINST U.S.

Trade Policies Blasted By Canadian Industrialist

NEW YORK (BUP) — The United States was accused of "economic isolationism" today by R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Fowler told the 40th Foreign Trade Convention of the National Foreign Trade Council Inc., "you seem to be clutching at any device, however expensive and uneconomic, that will make you self sufficient again. You seem to question the development of sources of supply in other friendly countries when I would have thought you should welcome this development of expanded international trade which provides you with commodities you need, and enables other countries to buy from you commodities that they need."

Fowler cited American outcrys against independence upon "foreign" sources of supply for such things as aluminum and newsprint, and he asked, "Is there any validity in that argument when applied to Canada?

"Is your defense strategy seriously weakened by the fact that you are dependent on Canada for most of your nickel—which is another strategic material? Surely the fact is that in any emergency your country and mine will be on the same side and will be involved together from the beginning.

"Is this anything more than economic isolationism — the direct lineal descendant of that political isolationism which now happily seems to be dead or dying in this country? Is this a policy that will expand international trade and promote better international relations? The fact is that Canada is today by a wide margin the most important customer in the world for American imports."

Fowler called United States tariff walls "unscalable," and American customs procedures full of "iniquities and antiquities."

He said the so-called rising tide of anti-Americanism in the United States' friends and Allies in Europe was due to several factors.

"You have many friends and supporters in Great Britain," he said, "who are tending to remain silent because they are confused by the delays in working out your international policies. They hope that you will soon be able to set a clear and enlightened course as the political and economic leaders of the world."

Fowler deplored the use of the words "aid," "assistance," "help," "support" and "gifts" in reference to what he called "American investments in the mutual defense of the free world, in which the United States has so large a stake.

"They are tough, practical investments made in our broad self-interest," he said.

U.S. CABINET MEMBER WOULD CUT TARIFFS

NEW YORK (UP)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks today proposed the gradual removal of U.S. tariffs except where they are needed to protect U.S. wage rates in industries "important to a substantial segment of the American economy."

In a speech to the national foreign trade convention here, Weeks said he was speaking "only for myself," not for the administration.

But he directed his suggestion to the commission on foreign economic policy which has the job of recommending future foreign trade policy to Congress and the president.

WASHINGTON (BUP)—The Canadian council of the international Chamber of Commerce today called on the United States commission on foreign economic policy to eliminate unnecessary restrictions to Canada-U.S. trade.

The plea was contained in a brief, which also asked for a more equitable and practical valuation and classification of goods by United States customs officers. The brief presented the views of Canadian private business as distinct from the government representations which have been made recently in Washington, officials of the Canadian council said.

Drew Moves No-Confidence Motion

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, today moved a want-of-confidence motion in the government with a call for action to "restore" markets for primary products.

The motion was moved in the Commons as an amendment to the motion for an address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

CPA Orders Latest Jet Comets

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines announced today that it had ordered a fleet of the latest type Comet-2 jet airplanes, to be delivered next fall, for use on its inter-continental routes from Vancouver to the South Pacific and South America.

CPAL president Grant McConachie said three of the 500-mile-an-hour jet transports had been ordered from De Havilland, England, for delivery next September, October and November. CPAL has an option on the purchase of a fourth Comet-2 for delivery early in 1955.

UN Postpones Disarmament Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (BUP)—The United Nations postponed a vote on disarmament proposals for a second time today when Russia requested more time to study a new western amendment.

The General Assembly's main political committee had been expected to vote at its meeting today but France, Britain and the United States presented amendments to a 14-power western resolution that apparently excited Soviet interest.

19 Believed Killed In Channel Collision

DUNGENESS, Eng. (Reuters)—Rescue craft pulled six survivors and five bodies from debris-strewn waters of the English channel early today, but 14 other crew members of a sunken Italian ore carrier were unaccounted for and feared lost.

The 2,745-ton Vittoria Claudia sank within five minutes of being struck by the French freighter Perou. Many of the crew were hurled into the sea by the impact, while others were believed helplessly trapped below decks.

One of the rescued men died shortly after being picked up. The five others were treated for shock.

Farina Alessanor, cook of the sunken ship, said it went down so fast there was no time to get a lifeboat away.

By noon today hope for the rescue of the 14 men waned, though a large rescue force still combed the collision scene in the straits of Dover. The Perou, reporting "some damage," headed for Le Havre after a fruitless search for survivors.

Insanity Plea Hinted At in Greenlease Case

Lawyers Spring Surprise Move

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) The posibility was raised today that the kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease would seek to escape the gas chamber through an insanity plea.

This surprise development came at the opening of the federal trial being held for the sole purpose of determining whether they should die for the crime they have fully confessed.

Both Carl Austin Hall, the 34-year-old playboy wastrel, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, the housewife turned alcoholic, listened attentively as their lawyers reserved the right to bring up the insanity question at any time during the proceedings.

Their counsel told the court they were not raising the question now but they wished to protect the constitutional rights of the two defendants and if evidence warranted an insanity plea they would make one even after conviction.

HOLD TO PLEAS

The defense lawyers said neither Hall or Mrs. Heady wanted to change their pleas of guilty, entered at their formal arraignment.

Judge Albert Reeves told the panel of 125 men and women that the sole job of the jury—to be chosen from among them—would be to decide whether a death penalty should be assessed. Under provisions of the Lindbergh kidnap law under which Hall and Mrs. Heady are being tried, only a jury has the authority to recommend the death penalty.

At the trial opening, Roy Dietrich, Hall's court-appointed counsel, failed in two efforts to have the panel of veniremen discharged.

He said under the Lindbergh kidnapping law Hall's plea of guilty was final and there was no authority in the law for calling a jury to fix the penalty. He emphasized he wanted to preserve this legal objection in case of a later appeal.

Judge Reeves overruled that point and also turned down Dietrich's argument that the panel should be dismissed because the jurors could not be impartial.

Nominations Closed With Five in Field

Nominations closed for the Victoria Nov. 24 by-election at 1 p.m. today with no surprise candidates.

Returning Officer Alan B. Macfarlane reported only the five candidates submitted nomination papers.

They are Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Social Credit; George F. Gregory, Liberal; Alfred Matthews, CCF; Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson, and Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Progressive Party

(See page 15 for biographies).

The by-election was necessitated by the resignation of Socred Percy Wright, who was elected last June. He resigned to allow Mr. Gunderson to contest one of the city seats. The minister was unsuccessful in Oak Bay in June.

The by-election will mark the return to the single choice system of voting after British Columbians had a whirl at the alternative multi-choice system of casting ballots. This system was abolished at the last session of the Legislature.

If Victorians vote the same way on Nov. 24 as they did last June, a Social Credit victory is assured.

Here's how they marked their first choices in that contest:

Socred Wright, 9,032; Liberal Straith, 7,193; CCF-er Campbell, 4,923; Tory Patch, 1,139, and LPP Mortenson 127.

Voting will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in about 30 polling stations, mostly in schools, throughout the city.

Electors should take their "where-to-vote" cards with them to the polls.

LONG EXCHANGE ENDED

Big Three Turn Down Reds But Churchill Still Has Hopes

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today the forthcoming Bermuda Big Three conference will consider how to arrange talks with the Russians.

Churchill told the House of Commons he will study with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel how such talks might be arranged.

"We will study the best methods and actions for making easy and practical talks with them (the Russians), even if we cannot solve all major problems and thus reduce world tension," Churchill said.

His comment was made in opposing a Laborite move in the House to make Britain's two years' selective service law come up for yearly review.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The western powers told Russia today that Soviet price for entering into negotiations on German unification and Austrian independence is "totally unacceptable."

Notes were delivered by British, American and French envoys in Moscow to the Soviet foreign office.

They replied to Russian demands put forward in a note of Nov. 3.

In their reply, the western powers said the Russian demands in effect placed non-European problems ahead of even a study of urgent European issues and made "a defenseless western Europe" part of the price for Soviet participation in a conference.

The western powers said "the Soviet government must be well aware" that such demands are totally unacceptable.

Eight Companies Plead Guilty to New Charge

TORONTO (BUP)—Eight rubber companies and the Rubber Association of Canada pleaded guilty today to operating a price-fixing combine on automobile tires and tubes.

The plea left them open to a maximum fine of $10,000 each. Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder will continue hearing evidence and argument in the case for about two days before passing sentence.

Thomas N. Phelan asked for the maximum fines after the guilty pleas were entered and said he also would ask for a prohibition order restraining the firm from further combine or price fixing activity.

"The maximum fine is entirely inadequate to meet the situation, having regard to the length of time and the volume of trade engaged in by the accused," Phelan said.

He said the companies had sold $645,000,000 in tires and tubes in Canada from 1937 to 1951, the period during which they are charged with fixing prices.

"A fine of $10,000 represents a contribution to the public treasury of $666 per year over the 15-year period for each offender," Phelan said.

The guilty pleas were entered by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada, Dominion Rubber Co. Ltd., Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada, B. F. Goodrich Co. of Canada Ltd., Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co. Ltd., Seiberling Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd., General Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd., Gutta Percha and Rubber Ltd., and the association.

Five of the companies—Goodyear, Dominion, Dunlop, Gutta Percha and Goodrich — were fined $10,000 each in September after they pleaded guilty to operating a combine in mechanical rubber goods. A prohibition order handed down then against further price fixing is now awaiting a Supreme Court appeal hearing.

Vanier to Retire

OTTAWA (BUP)—The department of external affairs today announced the retirement of Maj.-Gen. George P. Vanier, Ambassador to France, from the diplomatic service.

Gen. Vanier will relinquish his post in Paris at the end of the year, the department said.

TRUMAN BROADCAST AT 8 TONIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman prepared today to discuss the Harry Dexter White case tonight on radio and television.

Truman reports to the country at 8 p.m., PST, in a speech which, he has said, will "tell all the facts." He said in Independence, Mo., Sunday night that director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI attended a conference at which White's fate was discussed.

Ladysmith Man Among Violent Deaths in B.C.

Violence Responsible For Five Victims

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five violent deaths were recorded in British Columbia during the week-end, all on the lower mainland.

Richard Harris, 21, Ladysmith, was found drowned Sunday in the Fraser River at suburban Richmond.

Maynard McPhee, 66, missing since Oct. 19, was found drowned in English Bay here Sunday. His body was found with a chain and weights attached to the waist. Police said no foul play is suspected.

Howard Perry was found gassed in a room in West Vancouver: Gordon Brooks, 59, was drowned Saturday when he fell from a gangplank in the city's dock area, and Mrs. Mary Sleigh, 74, died Saturday night as a result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident Friday night.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twelve persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation showed today that traffic deaths, nine of which occurred in Ontario, accounted for the majority of the total of 18 fatalities in the east.

Ontario and Quebec were the scene of all the deaths, with a total of 14 in Ontario.

Shootings caused the deaths of three persons, and a fire, a drowning and a railway accident another three.

'No! (Br-r-ak) Certainly Not!'

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP) —North Koreans stoned Red officers today and attempted to attack them with metal chairs at the first Communist "explanation" session in 10 days.

One North Korean caused the interviews to be suspended for one hour and 50 minutes when he blew his nose with an "explanation sheet" signed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Only six of 227 NorthKoreans interviewed chose to go home after long "explanations," some of which lasted more than five hours.
